

Insurance Head Rejects License Of Association

S. W. Taylor, superintendent of insurance for British Columbia, today confirmed the refusal of a license under the B.C. Insurance Act to the North Pacific Health and Accident Association.

The superintendent of insurance's statement was made following an interview with officials of the association here on Monday. At that time it was disclosed that the association had been unable to achieve the state of solvency required as a condition of licensing.

Mr. Taylor said that the association in their statement of Sept. 30 reported members' claims outstanding on Sept. 21 at $79,820. Current assets were nil to meet these liabilities and members' prepaid dues amounted to $9,835.

A last minute attempt was made by officials of the association for continuance but this was rejected by Mr. Taylor. The association had requested that a license under the insurance act be issued to it while it was still insolvent.

This, Mr. Taylor contended, was contrary to the intent of the insurance act and the optimism expressed that the association could be made solvent, could not be shared by the department.

During the past four months the association had tried, but failed, to raise the necessary money from its members to carry on.

The association was originally refused a license on May 22 at which time, Mr. Taylor reported, it was insolvent to the amount of $72,594. Action on winding up or suspension of the association was deferred for 90 days to permit the directors to put the association's plight before the members and to endeavor to raise the necessary funds for solvency and thus qualify for a license.

The directors were confident at that time that this could be done through a $10 special assessment on each member. They assured that all money raised in this way would be placed in a trust account and returned to the members if they failed to reach their objective.

On Sept. 30 it was reported that the amount raised from the members by this special assessment had totaled $25,793.

At the time the deferment of winding up its operations was granted the association, through its directors, as represented by the association's solicitor, expressed themselves that if the members did not see their way clear to contribute toward the fund required by the department for solvency there would be no objection to the termination of the activities of the association.

The association last year claimed 12,000 members, but its membership has slipped since then. Last May it was reported at 8,000. Since then it has fallen off to 3,960.

The manager of the association's Victoria office said it was impossible to estimate the number of Victorians who are members.

Meat Cleaver, Gun Used In Slaving

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Jerome R. Ferreri, 32, was slain brutally in an attack with a revolver and meat cleaver climaxing domestic arguments Tuesday night in his Wilshire district home, police reported.

They arrested his wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Patricia Ferreri, 26, and a roomer, Allan Adron, 51, and booked them on suspicion of murder early today.

Det. Capt. Jack Swan said Ferreri had been shot once through the chest and that his skull was split by many blows with the cleaver.

Swan quoted Mrs. Ferreri and neighbors as saying the couple had been fighting for days.

Terms For Newfoundland's Entry Discussed At Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP)—The terms under which Newfoundland will join Canada as the 10th province were discussed again today at another in a series of closed meetings between representatives of the two countries.

An official in close touch with the negotiations said the discussions have not yet reached the stage where financial terms can be debated.

Three members of the Newfoundland Board of Trade have joined the seven-man Newfoundland delegation in discussion on

Reds Threaten General Strike In North France

PARIS (AP)—French Communists threatened today to organize a general sit-down strike in northern France in support of the striking coal miners.

Top leaders of the Communist Federation Generale du Travail met Tuesday night at Lille, a key mining centre which government strike-fighting troops and police have not yet entered.

C.G.T. leaders said they would pull the sit-down strike if the government "increased its repressive measures."

At least 30,000 troops and police are concentrated in the northern coal-fields east of Lille. During the wage strike, now in its fourth week, these shock troops have seized struck mines from danger of serious damage from flooding and fire damp.

Government measures against the strike, which has cost France more than 3,000,000 tons of coal, shifted to the fields in Southern France Tuesday when soldiers and police seized four mines. A striker was killed in a clash between opposing forces. The government, claiming the strikers fired first, sent tanks into action against them.

Nearly 500 strikers were arrested for taking part in the attacks on the government forces. An undisclosed number of foreigners who lacked proper papers also were arrested.

The government contends French Communists were ordered by the Communist International Information Bureau (Cominform) to foment the strike and to prevent any strikers from returning to their jobs.

No More Marshall Plan Loans Unless Agreements Signed

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Economic Co-operation Administration announced today it will make no new Marshall Plan grants to European countries unless they have signed loan agreements. Only Britain and Iceland now have loan agreements.

The action temporarily cuts off new grants, or outright gifts, of recovery aid to France, Italy, Denmark, Norway, Sweden, Belgium, Ireland, the Netherlands and Turkey.

These are the countries eligible for E.C.A. aid on a repayable loan basis, with whom negotiations have been in process for months.

Britain Tuesday signed a loan agreement for $310,000,000 and Iceland also is exempt from the sweeping E.C.A. decree because she concluded a $2,300,000 fisheries credit in the summer.

Electrical Workers Picket Building Projects In Victoria

The International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, Local 230, on strike against six Victoria electrical contracting firms, today threw picket lines around two projects. Work on both is continuing. A union spokesman said the lines had been established because the electrical contractors had not met union's demands. The Labor Relations Board is investigating extent of the strike, reported to have spread to other firms.

LATEST 11th Traffic Death

C. M. Graham, 59, of Balmoral Road, injured in an accident Monday night in the vicinity of Vancouver Street and Pandora Avenue, died in Royal Jubilee Hospital today at 1. City police said he was struck by a car driven by Kenneth B. Poskitt, 1637 Pembroke Street. This was the 11th traffic death in Victoria and district this year.

Constable Recovers

VANCOUVER (CP)—Constable James McGarry, stabbed Tuesday night by a mental patient he was to have taken to the Essondale Hospital, today was reported in fairly good condition. He suffered a heavy loss of blood.

Peace Feelers Out

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A possible peace feeler has appeared in the west coast maritime strike, eight weeks old today. Talks between shipowners and the C.I.O. marine engineers were begun Tuesday through the efforts of the federal conciliation service. They continued today and the union scheduled a special membership meeting tomorrow night. They were the first such talks since the strike began.

Blow For 'Rebels'

VANCOUVER (CP)—Another labor body has taken a whack at the rebelling reddish-tinted Woodworkers' Industrial Union of Canada, and turned down an affiliation proposal. The Vancouver Labor Council has pledged "full moral and financial support to the International Woodworkers of America (C.I.O.) To defeat the reactionary forces seeking to destroy it."

Pearkes Suggests One Currency For All Commonwealth

VANCOUVER (CP)—A new British Empire currency—possibly based on a "Commonwealth Dollar"—has been suggested by Maj. Gen. G. R. Pearkes, V.C. (P.C., Nanaimo).

Addressing a Progressive Conservative meeting here, he said: "If the Commonwealth is to be strengthened into one great, strategic unit, a 'Commonwealth currency' may not be far off."

A new currency for the British Empire—possibly based on a "Commonwealth dollar"—may be the next development in the Empire structure.

Move To Sue Union On Illegal Strike Charge

Application is now being made to sue the Victoria local of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers for an illegal strike, it was learned today.

The company instituting the proceedings is Mawson Gage Ltd., electrical contractors.

The application to the Labor Relations Board for permission to sue the union for illegal strike was drawn up this morning after a picket line appeared before the site of a temporary office building now under construction for the provincial government just off Superior Street.

Mawson Gage are sub-contractors on the job. F. J. Bevis, secretary of the I.B.E.W., said his union was picketing electrical contractors who have not signed the agreement with the union.

An official of Mawson Gage Ltd. said they were surprised when their men did not turn up for work last Monday as they had never received any requests from the union, and the firm had not been involved in the recent conciliation proceedings between the union and some of the other contracting firms.

"We understand that our men were not permitted to vote on the strike question," the official said. He also expressed surprise at finding pickets on the job this morning, asserting that his company had always employed union men and paid union wages or better.

"We feel that we are being subjected to an illegal strike through no fault of ours," he said.

Von Leeb Found Guilty Of Crimes Against Humanity

NUERNBERG (CP)—A United States war crimes tribunal today convicted former Field Marshal Wilhelm von Leeb, one of Hitler's top military commanders, of committing war crimes and crimes against humanity in Nazi-occupied territories.

Von Leeb, who commanded the northern group of armies in Russia, was acquitted on a charge of illegal activities against belligerents and prisoners of war.

Field Marshal Hugo Sperrle, one-time commander of the German "Condor Legion" in Spain and of the air fleet which bombed London in 1940, was acquitted on all four charges and was ordered to be released immediately.

The tribunal this morning announced acquittal of 13 leading

Nazi war chiefs—three field marshals, nine generals and one admiral—on charges of conspiracy and waging aggressive warfare. (See story, "U.S. Court," page 2.)

The court found Von Leeb guilty on only one sub-charge under the count involving crimes against civilians in occupied countries. Von Leeb was convicted on the other two main charges on the basis of the order which denied captured partisans the right of hearing before German military courts-martial.

The court held Von Leeb never was a "friend or follower" of the Nazi Party and said it was "not without significance that no criminal record has been introduced in evidence which bears his signature or the stamp of his approval."

Fire At Adelaide Claims Six Lives

ADELAIDE, Australia (Reuter)—Six persons perished in one of Adelaide's worst fires early tonight. Six others were severely injured.

Flames swept through a cafe in the heart of the city, trapping the staff.

The fire spread rapidly through the three floors of the building. Most of the staff escaped through the first-floor windows and along veranda roofs.

Two floors were crowded with diners, but the manager shepherded them into the street.

Truman Says G.O.P. Will Boost Rents

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—President Truman said today he has no doubts rents will go up at least 20 per cent if the Republicans win the election.

The President made the statement as he toured industrial New England.

The President said "the real estate lobby" predicts rents "will not be increased more than 20 per cent" if it succeeds in killing rent control next March.

"I don't have a doubt in the world that rents would be that high, or maybe even higher, if the Republican Party should win this election."

Quick Action By U.S. Expected On Atlantic Defence

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP)—Swift American action appears assured on the five-power Western European Union request for a military alliance with the United States and Canada.

In fact, the rough draft of just such a north Atlantic security treaty has been written, after secret and informal talks with the European countries. Barring some unexpected hitch, the final version is expected to go to the United States Senate within three months.

The aim of the projected alliance is to provide U.S. and Canadian military guarantees for non-Communist Europe, with the Western European Union as a nucleus.

As part of this broad undertaking, defense department officials here already are working with European military experts on plans for a program of mutual military help.

The council of the Western European Union announced in Paris Tuesday that it had reached complete agreement "on the principle of a defensive pact for the north Atlantic and on the next steps to be taken in this direction."

The first of these next steps, Paris reported, will be to have the ambassadors of the five countries in Washington and Ottawa formally ask for such a treaty.

But, diplomatic informants here said today, this step will not be taken in the United States until after next Tuesday's Presidential election. The delay is in line with the months-old policy of playing down the whole subject during the political campaign.

Diplomatic officials say the project will be carried forward whether President Truman or Governor Thomas E. Dewey is elected.

Death Sentence On Habitant Convicted Of Murdering Wife

LA MALBAIE, Que. (CP)—A rural jury today convicted Lionel Huard, 27, of a charge of murder in the drowning of his English war bride May 9, near the village of St. Therese de Colombar, far down the St. Lawrence River's North Shore.

Huard was sentenced to be hanged March 1.

The jury of nine farmers, a printer, a taxi driver and a laborer returned to the packed courtroom with its verdict of guilty after deliberating an hour.

Mr. Justice Alfred Savard immediately pronounced sentence.

Huard's trial on the charge of drowning his wife, Mary Florence Green of Thornaby-on-Tess, Yorkshire, May 9, started here eight days ago.

The small, moustached Ste. Therese de Colombar villager was accused of drowning her during a Sunday noon canoe trip at Baie des Bouleaux (Bay of the Birch).

Huard, in a statement written in jail and read into the evidence last week, said his wife had drowned accidentally when a wave upset the canoe. He said he had almost lost his own life but a wave threw him against a rock and he had been able to hold on.

Mr. Justice Savard in his address said Huard had declared the drowning occurred about 20 feet from shore. The judge said that evidence was that water in Baie des Bouleaux is shallow at that distance and Mrs. Huard might have been able to make her way shore.

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Attlee asked Parliament today to investigate reports of bribery involving ministers and other officials of the government.

Bringing before the House of Commons a scandal which may have far-reaching implications, Attlee blamed "the activities of a certain alien" whom he did not name.

Attlee said J. W. Belcher, Parliamentary Secretary of the Board of Trade, and "other ministers and officials" were involved in the allegations.

The Commons immediately agreed to set up a judicial tribunal to investigate the reports. Attlee said the allegations were that "payments, rewards or other considerations have been sought, offered, promised, made or received by or to ministers or other public servants in connection with licenses or permissions required under an enactment, regulation or order, or in connection with the withdrawal of any prosecution." He did not disclose the source.

Israel Rejects U.N. Order To Withdraw From Negev

TEL AVIV (AP)—It was learned reliably that the Israeli government today notified the United Nations it is rejecting the U.N. acting mediator's order that Jewish forces withdraw from newly-won control positions in Negev, southern Palestine.

The rejection was called by Foreign Minister Moshe Shertok to Aubrey Eban, Israeli representative at the United Nations in Paris, to be turned over to Dr. Ralph Bunche, the mediator.

The reply said the Jews are willing to negotiate, but will not withdraw from the Negev desert without negotiation.

Shertok's message said he wished to "draw attention to the following sentence in the Security Council resolution of Oct. 19." "After the cease-fire, the following conditions might well be considered as a basis for negotiation: 1. The withdrawal of forces to previous positions, etc."

That sentence, the Israeli reply said, made it clear that withdrawal "was regarded by the Security Council as a possible subject for consideration and not an absolute injunction as you (Bunche) have assumed."

Two Dead, 12 Hurt In Train-Motor Truck Accident In Ohio

UHRICHSVILLE, O. (AP)—The engineer and fireman were killed and 12 persons, 11 of them passengers, were injured today when a Pennsylvania train smashed into a truckload of steel five miles west of here.

Five of the injured were taken to hospital at nearby Dennison. They included the driver of the truck. The others were treated at the scene of the wreck in which eight cars were reported derailed.

The state highway patrol reported also that the locomotive was demolished in the crash.

The 14-car train was eastbound from Cincinnati to Pittsburgh.

Shortage Of Steel Six More Months

NEW YORK—The Iron Age, national metal working weekly, said today a market survey indicates the steel shortage will continue for at least six more months.

The publication said an accurate check of the steel market shows no foundations for hope that steel will be easier to get soon or that the output will take care of demand.

Yugoslav Envoy Rips Into Western Policies At U.N.

PARIS (AP)—The Yugoslav Deputy Foreign Minister, Ales Bebler, assailed western policy in Greece for 2½ hours before the United Nations today.

Bebler launched his attack after the Soviet bloc had failed in another attempt before the U.N. political committee to invite a representative of Markos Vafiades, Communist rebel leader in Greece, to discuss the Greek situation. The proposal, submitted by Poland, was defeated 45 to 6, with two abstentions.

Margarine Ruling Expected Nov. 15

OTTAWA (CP)—The Supreme Court's decision on the validity of the Parliament's ban on margarine is expected about Nov. 15, it was learned today.

The judgment had been expected earlier, but was delayed by a heavy roll of cases before the court.

Dilworth Addresses U.B.C. Graduates

VANCOUVER (CP)—Ira Dilworth of Montreal and Victoria told 360 fall graduates of the University of British Columbia today there must be a reorientation of values to bring the humanities back into the centre of our thinking.

The director of the CBC's international service said in the convocation address—prepared for delivery at the afternoon congregation meeting—"there is a particular need for us to take stock, as responsible men and women, of the values that are peculiarly ours as human beings."

Mr. Dilworth spoke following the conferring of eight honorary Doctor of Laws degrees by the university.

U.S. Court At Nuernberg Acquits Thirteen Nazis

NUERNBERG (AP)—A United States war crimes court today acquitted 13 of Adolf Hitler's top military commanders of plotting to launch the Second World War.

The three-man court, completing the nine-months' trial of three field marshals, five generals, one admiral and four lieutenant-generals, ruled they had not been German policy-makers.

The judgment said "the acts of commanders and staff officers below policy level in planning campaigns, preparing means for carrying them out, moving against a country on orders and fighting a war after it has been instituted, do not constitute the planning, preparation, initiation and waging of war or the initiation of an invasion that international law denounces as criminal."

The court also struck out the conspiracy charge in the four-count indictment.

Since the international tribunal convicted the highest Nazis, no other defendant has been convicted of planning aggressive war.

LENGTHY TASK

The 330-page judgment is expected to take two days to be read.

The defendants were: Field Marshal Wilhelm von Leeb, 72, accused of being active in Hitler's early plans for the invasion of Czechoslovakia, Poland, the Low Countries and France.

Field Marshal Hugo Sperrle, 62, commander of the "Condor Legion" in Spain in 1936 and 1937 and commander of the air fleet which bombed London in the 1940 blitz.

Field Marshal Georg Karl Friedrich von Kuechler, 67, commander of the 18th German Army in the 1940 invasions of The Netherlands, Belgium and Luxembourg, and of Russia in 1941.

Gen. Hermann von Hoth, 63, commander of the 15th Motorized Corps in the Polish and Netherlands invasions.

Gen. Hans Reinhardt, 61, commander of the 4th Panzer Division in the Polish invasion, commander of the 41st Corps in the invasions of the Netherlands, Yugoslavia and Russia.

Gen. Hans von Salmuth, 59, accused of being an early planner of invasions as chief of staff of Army Group B. He also was chief of staff of an army group during the invasion of Poland.

Gen. Karl Hoth, 38, charged with being one of the planners of the Polish and Yugoslav invasions.

Admiral Otto Schniewind, 60, commander of the North Sea Fleet, accused of conferring with Hitler on the invasions of Poland and Norway.

Lt.-Gen. Karl von Rouques, 68, charged with killing prisoners of war.

Lt.-Gen. Hermann Reineck, 60, principally charged with issuing orders that Russian prisoners of war be executed for political reasons. He served as a military member of people's court tribunals.

Bevin, Marshall Confer Next Move In Berlin Crisis

PARIS (AP)—Foreign Secretary Bevin and State Secretary Marshall conferred at the United States Embassy here today on the western powers' next move in the Berlin crisis.

It was understood Bevin also reported formally to Marshall that the Brussels alliance powers want a north Atlantic defence pact with the United States and Canada.

The five foreign ministers of the Brussels alliance—composed of Britain, France, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg—announced Tuesday night they would ask the United States for such a pact.

Bevin and Marshall were reported unofficially to be considering whether or not Britain, the United States and France would take their Berlin quarrel with Russia off the United Nations' Security Council's agenda and place it before the U.N. General Assembly.

Bevin discussed the entire Berlin situation with the Brussels alliance foreign ministers during two days of talks which ended Tuesday night. He is reported to have told Marshall of the discussion.

At his meeting with Marshall, Bevin was reported to have asked when the five Brussels powers can begin negotiating the projected north Atlantic defence pact. The expectation here is that talks aimed at concluding such a treaty will open in Washington next month.

Bevin also gave Marshall an account of his ideas for the formation of a European ministerial council. The task of such a council would be to forge political unity among the anti-Communist European states.

Bevin's plan was accepted for study Tuesday by the other four Brussels alliance foreign ministers.

Premier King Has Good Night's Rest; Sees More Callers

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister King enjoyed another good night's rest and was up early this morning, his staff reported.

The Prime Minister, recovering from an ailment of the blood circulation, was expected to entertain more visitors in his hotel suite today, but has yet to venture out since his doctors ordered him to bed more than two weeks ago.

Tuesday Mr. King was visited by Don Senanyake, Prime Minister of Ceylon. Thus he has consulted with all the Commonwealth leaders who came here for the Commonwealth conference, which he was forced to miss because of his illness.

At the end of this week he is expected to leave for home and retirement.

Dutch Immigrants For United Church

NEW YORK (CP)—Rev. J. J. Stam of The Netherlands Reformed Church said Tuesday he had spent the last six months on a mission in Canada to "integrate the Dutch immigrant members of my church over here into the United Church of Canada."

Dr. Stam said in an interview that some 8,000 to 9,000 Dutch immigrants already had arrived in the Dominion this year. Next year he expects some 20,000 will arrive.

Speaking of his task in Canada, he said: "We want to put them into the life of Canada and not have them locked up in nationalistic groups."

Dr. Stam, who is to sail for home from New York Saturday, arrived in Quebec last May 7. He had crossed the Dominion from east to west.

"I enjoyed my trip in Canada, every mile and every foot," he said.

He was particularly struck by the sweep and majesty of the prairies.

Wage Scale Urged For Woolworth Workers

A new schedule of minimum wages for employees of the F. W. Woolworth Co., 1626 Commercial Drive, Vancouver, was suggested today in a majority report of a conciliation board headed by Dean D. Buchanan, chairman, of the University of B.C.

The schedule which provides for a starting wage of $22 a week rising to $26 after a year's experience, and of $28 for counter order girls, window trimmers and floor girls, was also approved by Mrs. Margaret Burgoyne of Victoria, nominee of the Retail Clerks' Union, representing the employees.

The majority report also recommended a maintenance of membership clause.

Charles J. White, nominee of the company on the board, said in his minority report that there seemed no justification for an increase beyond that offered by the company. The company had offered $22 per week over the previous prevailing rate of $18.

Victoria Machinery Depot Ltd. plans a $2,600 addition to the plate shop of its plant at 343 Bay Street. Permit for the work was issued today by the city building inspector.

Business Not Profiteering Chamber Of Commerce Says

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Canadian Chamber of Commerce is wondering how to persuade the public that business doesn't make the profits people think it makes.

For instance, as Walter E. Elliott of Toronto told the chamber Tuesday, public opinion polls show that the average person thinks business and industrial concerns make about 32 cents on each dollar of sales. That's just the average opinion—individual guesses run from 5 cents to 90.

Further, said Mr. Elliott, the average person thinks 16 cents would be fair, whereas in fact the real profit is about 5 cents, with only half of that nickel going to shareholders, and the rest going back to maintain the business as a going concern and an employer.

ENOUGH FOR EVERYBODY

The chamber is devoted to the idea that more people get more goods under free enterprise than under any other system, and that it can be made to produce a lot more for everyone. It believes that it is the only system under which individual freedom can be maintained, and that anything that is wrong with it can be solved by open discussion.

Smeal New President Of C.C.L. Council

R. R. Smeal, delegate from local 234, Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees and other Transport Workers, Tuesday night was elected president of the Victoria Labor Council (C.C.L.) to succeed G. P. Taggart.

H. E. Norman is continuing as vice-president. R. Noble of the Marine Workers' Industrial Union was elected secretary-treasurer to succeed J. M. Wainwright, who resigned.

Mr. Smeal also replaces Mr. Taggart as delegate to the B.C. Federation of Labor. H. Anderson, also of the C.B.R.E., was elected as Canadian Congress of Labor representative on the Unemployment Insurance Advisory Committee. He replaces J. E. Branson who resigned because of ill-health.

The meeting protested the failure of the Unemployment Insurance Commission to provide unemployment insurance for employees of Silbak Premier Mines.

At the same time the meeting condemned the delay in the payment of compensation paid injured workmen.

O. Day, C.B.R.E., was seated as a delegate.

Forbids Picketing Of Quebec Mills

ST. JOHN'S, Que. (CP)—A court order issued here Tuesday forbids the picketing of the St. Johns textile mills by members of the Textile Workers' Union of America (C.C.L.-C.I.O.) out on strike since July 25. Company officials claimed strikers had prevented workers from entering the plant. They also maintained they had lost more than $75,000 through loss of labor and damages.

Surgeons Remove Coal From Lung

TORONTO (CP)—Louise Brown, 16-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Brown of Didsbury, Alta., will soon be leaving the Hospital for Sick Children here following a successful operation Tuesday in which a piece of coal was removed from one of her lungs.

The baby's condition was described today as quite satisfactory, and a member of the hospital staff said, "we think she'll be soon going home."

Louise arrived by plane Oct. 15, but the operation was postponed when she developed measles. It is believed the coal was swallowed over a month ago. The Canadian Legion and the Red Cross supplied funds for the trip.

To Form Canadian Guinea Pig Club

TORONTO (CP)—A Canadian branch of the exclusive war-born Guinea Pig Club is to be formed shortly for the 154 Canadians eligible for membership. There are 534 men in the world with the necessary qualifications.

Only those who flew with the Allied air forces during the second World War and underwent plastic surgery for burns at East Grinstead, Surrey, England, may join.

Sir Archibald McIndoe, who did much to found the original club in England, will arrive here next Monday to attend an organizational meeting.

Calgary Power Plots $18,000,000 Program

CALGARY (CP)—Calgary Power Ltd. plans to spend $18,000,000 in the next five years on a program of building new hydro plants and power transmission lines, including the Spray Lakes project to be completed in 1950, were placed before the Alberta Board of Public Utility Commissioners Tuesday by Harry Thompson, Montreal, vice-president of the Montreal Engineering Co.

Lidice Commander Jailed For Life

PRAGUE (AP)—Gen. Rudolf Toussaint, German commander of the Prague garrison during the closing days of the war, was sentenced Tuesday to life imprisonment. He was linked with the Nazis in the Lidice massacre in 1942. The prosecution said he surrounded Lidice with troops while S.S. (Elite Guard) men slaughtered the men in the town.

A.F.L. May Sponsor U.S. Labor Party

CINCINNATI (AP)—William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, said Tuesday the A.F.L. may sponsor formation of a National Labor Party when its holds its convention here next month.

"I want to wait and see how the election will turn out," Green said.

He added he did not know whether other labor organizations would join in such a move.

Judge Dismisses Driving Appeal

County Court Judge H. H. Shandley dismissed today the appeal of Thomas E. Drysdale, convicted in police court on a charge of dangerous driving.

Drysdale was involved in an accident at the intersection of Cumberland Road and Union Avenue. His automobile struck the motorcycle of John Henry Russell who was proceeding north on Cumberland. Russell suffered serious chest injuries.

"Both vehicles arrived at the intersection at the same time, but Russell had the right away," said the judge. "If Drysdale had entered the intersection first then Russell would have lost his right-of-way."

The judge refused to interfere with the sentence imposed on Drysdale. The accused was fined $40 and had his license suspended for one month in the lower court.

SOME DO NOT MAKE IT

THE CASE OF GORDON SEATON, WHO emigrated to Canada four months ago, held for a time a $60 a week job, lost it, and recently stowed away on an Atlantic liner in order to return home, may be an isolated instance of one potential new settler's reaction to life in this Dominion. Mr. Seaton was unable to bring his family to Canada, and when his wage dropped considerably below that of his first position he found he could not support a home in England and live himself.

The situation is one which doubtless is known to scores of young family men who had hoped to set their roots down in this country and make provision for their dependents to join them later. Few will criticize Mr. Seaton for the action he has taken. But the incident will help to re-emphasize the point that newcomers must still be endowed with some characteristics of pioneering if they are to contribute the most to and receive the most from this young country.

In few cases must the immigrant hew for himself a home from the wilderness. If he wishes to do that, the opportunity is there. In the rapid industrialization of this nation, however, he should have little difficulty in finding a job suited to his more specialized talents. At the same time, he must realize that his translation to the Canadian scene, his integration into the social and economic fabric of this country, can be accomplished only to the extent to which he makes himself adaptable and assimilable. He must know that here, as elsewhere, the survival of the fittest is a natural law.

On the other hand the Seaton case and others in which immigrants and displaced persons have come to Canada to start a new life, re-emphasize the obligation resting on those of longer residence. Such strangers in a strange land are unaccustomed to our way of life, in many instances unfamiliar with our tongue. We as Canadians expect them to carry their own weight and a little more. But until they become established, it is up to us to see what we can do to make their difficulties a little less forbidding, how we can help them to enter the Canadian stream, and how, without discouraging the preservation of their staunch native virtues, we can assist them along the road to a common concept of this Dominion that will give them a chance to make their contributions to the land and receive from it fitting rewards for their labors.

JOB WELL DONE

FOR THE FIRST TIME IN THE CITY'S history that section of Fairfield Road between Memorial Crescent and Foul Bay Road is a street of which Victorians may be proud. Completion of surfacing marked an achievement in one stage of the community's improvement program which will spread over the next few years. Many had doubted that the job would be finished before the winter rains brought a halt to work. Weather, energetic application and good direction have combined to produce a happy result.

It is to be hoped that the development will not encourage through traffic to consider the road a speedway. For those whose driving caution diminishes as facilities for faster travel increase, the granite and marble monuments which adorn the southwest border of the stretch should stand as ample warnings.

TOO LENIENT?

SINCE LEGENDARY TIMES, WHEREVER societies have held some understanding of justice, the ideal in visiting retribution on wrong-doers has been to make the punishment fit the crime. The problem, of course, has been one of interpretation as to what penalty should be fixed. We have come a long way from the era in which a man was hanged for stealing a sheep, or from that fabled age when a harsh but upright caliph so punished criminals that a child could walk through his streets at night wearing a crown and no hand would stretch forth to seize it.

How far, on the other hand, can a modern court go in tempering justice with mercy without removing from punishment the deterrent which persuades the vacillating potential criminal from committing an act through fear of consequences to himself? It is frequently said that men are hanged for murder, but that murders are still committed. It remains a matter of speculation as to what the homicide toll might be if capital punishment were not the ultimate penalty on this continent.

The definition of punishment is relatively clear for capital cases—although its severity frequently sways juries to leniency under our system. What are less well defined and what lead to public confusion are the measures which should be taken against an individual who is guilty of a lesser offence. Is it adequate, for instance, to allow suspended sentence for youths who have been tried and convicted on charges of illegal possession of guns? Will the mildness of such punishment stop them from going out again with weapons and using them if they deem such use expedient? In cases of common assault in which the victim sustains severe injury, is it sufficient to impose upon the aggressor a fine which, if he is in a comfortable financial position, is relatively nominal?

It may be assumed that judges in low or high courts are, like members of the public, impressed by the fact that our prisons frequently fail in their efforts at correction—as evidenced by the high percentage of recidivism—and that they may be unable to escape the influence of that thought in handing down sentence. At the same time, faulty as it may be, the place of incarceration is still the usual medium of punishment for the convicted individual who may not or cannot pay a fine. Are the courts temporizing when they show a disinclination toward its use? An advanced citizenship has no desire to see undue harshness in matters of sentence. But it does want firmness, and it must have it if the legal processes of justice as we know it are not to fall into disrepute.

WELL-EARNED BEST

UNLIKE SOME CANADIANS WHO have sought and found eminence abroad, Lord Beaverbrook has never lost his personal interest in his native land. He has returned to spend his declining years in the country where he was born and in which he laid the basis for the economic and political success which was later to be his. Yesterday he arrived in this city, in the course of a Canada-wide tour to renew acquaintance with the west and indulge his desire to continue the "pursuit of happiness." Now in his seventieth year, Max Aitken, born in Maple, Ont., but better known as a resident of New Brunswick, can look back on a career unparalleled in Canadian history.

A multi-millionaire by the time he was 30, his commercial activities extended across the Atlantic and made him an international figure at an age when many men are still making up their minds as to their life work. Shifting the scene of his labors to Britain, he gained a seat in the House of Commons and after the war set about organizing the newspaper kingdom that was to become one of his best-known achievements. The Daily Express that he bought for about $70,000 has won the largest circulation in the world—only slightly under 4,000,000 copies a day. "The Beaver's" thunder on political issues of the day was heard far beyond Fleet Street.

Such energy as his could not be overlooked at a time of national emergency. In the dark days of the Second World War, when aircraft formed the key to successful defence of the British Isles, Beaverbrook was made Minister of Aircraft Production. His efforts won the praise of Churchill for "his splendid—nay, astounding—increase in output." Other cabinet appointments followed, but such things now belong to the past. "I'm taking it easy and just looking around," he told interviewers here. "My eyes observe more as they grow older."

IT'S DIFFERENT NOW

A "NEW LOOK" IN ARMY LIFE, LIKELY to make old sweats marvel and wonder at the changes in their profession, is heralded in the description made public by Gen. Jacob L. Devers, chief of the United States Army Field Forces. In an address designed to comfort the mothers of prospective draftees, the general explained how instructors will try "to establish a personal relationship with the incoming recruit," how he will be told "the reason for everything he does which is new to him," and how "someone will meet him" when he arrives for training and answer all his questions. In addition, the new draftees' uniforms will be "individually fitted," the army will insist "that he write home," and interviews with his company commander and chaplain will be followed by "personal letters to his mother" from these two officers. Finally, he will get an immediate pay advance and neither he nor his instructors will use profanity.

Least there be any idea that what he was outlining was the program for a children's camp or a Sunday School treat, Gen. Devers made it clear that he was referring to the army. But he told the mothers that the peacetime army is going to be "considerably different from the army you have heard described." To employ, for the moment, a popular phrase—he can say that again!

READ ABOUT THE POSTIE?

BECAUSE HE BECAME TIRED ON HIS round one day, Milwaukee postman Harry Kant packed his mail home and threw a lot of it in the wastepaper basket. This too obvious method of lightening the burden for himself brought him before court on a serious charge. Such cases are unusual. Among the thousands of "posties" who tread the streets of this continent almost every day, few yield to this impulse, though it must be a thought that lurks back of their minds when their shoulders are aching and their feet hurt.

But because the mailmen do their work so well, they seldom attain publicity or the expressions of public appreciation they deserve. Each Christmas they share with other postal employees in an appeal to the people to avoid piling up a late rush mail. And at that season they receive the traditional cigar or similar gift from the patrons they have served so well. But, for the remainder of the year, they are too frequently merely automatons who perform a service, machines in the delivery line. Yet, in their very anonymity they present a moral for newspaper readers.

As they go about their tasks, mailmen are not particularly newsworthy. They are doing a job and because they are doing it well, they claim scant, if any, attention. But let one of them yield to the impulse to ditch his load and public interest is aroused. "Did you read about the postman?" Yes, the citizens read about the postman, but will it increase their sympathies for the thousands of others who turn out in fair weather and foul to give them a million dollar service for three cents and up?

Return To Paris

By J. ERNEST CHARLES

THE 1948 SUMMER tourist season in France was successful beyond all predictions. It was as if the daily cares which no one escapes in any country in this post-war era made people all the more eager to seek the healthful diversion of traveling abroad. Moreover, the removal of restrictions and easier conditions of travel naturally swelled the numbers of tourists. Statistics coming from the United States tell us that we can expect more and more summer visitors in the next few years. Altogether, the prospect is a pleasant one.

IN 1948 THERE was a noticeable change in the tourist picture in France and one which on the whole augurs well for the future of the industry. This year's tourists were ordinary folk. Whatever the reason, the opulent traveler of other days seems to have disappeared. Perhaps opulence is not quite so prevalent as it used to be. Perhaps the question of gasoline for their automobiles is a deterring factor. Or perhaps the modest sums allowed persons traveling abroad exert an influence which we can only regret. We must hope that these causes and others are merely temporary.

IN ANY CASE, one fact seems to be indisputable. Merchants of all kinds both in Paris and elsewhere in France are unanimous in stating that foreign tourists have been cautious in their expenditures. Especially their luxury expenditures. Celebrated restaurateurs, the heroes of those famous inns for which France is world-renowned, complain that gastronomy is practically a thing of the past. But gastronomy, for all its merits, comes high, and that is doubtless the reason for the prudence exercised by the tourists as they passed by those inviting doors.

PURCHASES, TOO, were fewer and more modest than they were in earlier times. It is easy to see that the cruel game of currencies, the restriction of foreign credits and, everywhere, the fear of the morrow have all played their part.

On the other hand, we are assured that the great numbers of customers made up for the relative reserve of the individuals. But what new enthusiasm on the part of these tourists who are not at all opulent! With what animation do they enjoy all those delights of nature and art, past and present, which abound in France!

THIS SUMMER, for example, there were crowds of foreigners at the Opera de Paris. The huge hall was filled to overflowing with an audience which made no attempt to rival the elegance customary on "subscription series" evenings, but an audience which seemed to vibrate and thrill to the magnificence of the works. Music is an international language and all of them, no matter where they came from, grasped its meaning.

And it seemed that the tourists from every country showed the same urge for serious entertainment and refused to content themselves with dashing from one shallow pleasure to another equally superficial.

THIS WAS significantly shown in the way the tourists thronged to the museums. The Louvre, restored to normal, has recently added two new sections—the Egyptian department and antique ceramics. And there is a growing trend to make the museums more attractive. Bright, spacious rooms are cleverly arranged to display the finest works to best advantage. The tourists linger before their favorites, scarcely able to tear themselves away.

FRANCE SEEMS to lend itself to the advancement of this sort of tourism, which is not content to attract only the passing interest, nor even just to stimulate imagination but which speaks directly to minds and hearts. It is France's great privilege that everywhere on her soil the arts of the past are embodied in those of the present and bear witness to the efforts of generations; it is also her privilege that everywhere art and nature are associated and by their close association increase their effect. The new tourists of 1948 have clearly shown the joy they experienced from these attractions, preferring them to the usual pilgrimages and the scheduled rounds.

Quoting

The Communist fraternity sooner or later produces but one kind of fraternity—the kind Jonah enjoyed when he was swallowed by the whale.—Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg (R) of Michigan.

The United States must be prepared to shoot first in the event of any future war. Until world peace is a reality we must avoid the dangerous combination of "hot heads" and cold war.—Lt. Gen. George E. Stratemeyer, U.S.A.

Sure we've got a caste system. Do you know of any major industry that doesn't have? It's incentive that makes this country work the way it does.—Gen. Omar Bradley, Army Chief of Staff, replying to criticism of the army caste system.

We can move forward toward war with Russia along the lines of our present foreign policy, or we can initiate and support a constitutional convention to establish world government.—Robert M. Hutchins, Chancellor of the University of Chicago.

We will do everything possible to maintain peace. All governments must understand that peace is important for all people. My government and my people are friendly to the people of the United States.—A. S. Panyushkin, Soviet ambassador to the U.S.

'For Goodness Sake, Can't Someone Smile?

Handkerchiefs As Germ Carriers

By JOSEPH KALMER

WHEN you sneeze, you eject 100,000 germ-carrying particles into the air. If, therefore, you have an attack of sneezing and sneeze 10 times in succession, you will throw out a million of these particles. If you cough only once, you release 400 particles, and if you wave a dry, but used handkerchief for half a minute, you release into the air around you at least 15,000 to 50,000 particles.

RESEARCH RESULTS

We know this because three scientists working for the British Medical Research Council in the Common Cold and Air Hygiene Units at Harvard Hospital, Salisbury, in southern England, have accepted the task of determining the part played by the common handkerchief in spreading upper respiratory infections. The results of their researches have been published in the London medical magazine "The Lancet." Since the experimental work of Hare in 1941, it has been realized that streptococci and other bacilli are to be found in the handkerchiefs, bedding and room dust of carriers of these bacilli; when you blow your nose you can even infect your hands and surroundings.

Oral and nasal secretions collect in the handkerchief and it is probable that these are the main cause of spreading infection, at any rate when the handkerchief is dry. So long as it is moist, the infective particles cling to the material. Once it has dried, the danger arises as soon as it is taken from the pocket, particularly if you have acquired the bad habit, noticeable in many people, of shaking it out before using it. In this case the danger of spreading germs is much greater.

BACTERIA COUNT

The three scientists wished to determine the extent of the danger, and therefore, undertook the experiment of counting the bacteria-carrying particles. About 24 volunteers placed themselves at the disposal of the Common Cold Research Unit in Salisbury, so that their nasal conditions could be studied exactly. The nasal secretions of these people proved ideal research material. They were supplied with handkerchiefs of Egyptian cotton, one foot square, previously sterilized and, therefore germ-free. Two days later these were collected and dried overnight at 70 degrees Fahrenheit in a dust-free space. The following day they were suspended before a half-horsepower wind machine in a special airtight container; all subsequent operations were controlled from outside.

MECHANICAL SHAKING

The air was later withdrawn from the container by an exhaust fan after test slides had been taken from the infected air on agar-agar nutrient plates. On these the germs were then counted.

A series of other tests was also carried out, to compare the effects of mechanical shaking and manual shaking of the handkerchiefs. These proved that mechanical shaking released about four times the number of germs. A third series of tests proved that about the same number of germs remained on the handkerchief and that they could only be released by a saline solution.

Working Toward Planned Chaos?

By JAMES THRASHER from New York

THE three defense departments of the United States are wondering whether they can get by on the budget for fiscal 1950 that Mr. Truman has limited to $15,000,000,000. They also seem uncertain how they will apportion the sums they get.

The confusion is not due to service rivalries, if reports on the budget discussions are correct. The principal trouble is that the defense heads do not know what sort of a war to prepare for, or when to prepare for it.

FEVER CHART

The world's war-fever chart has recently shown some sharp rises and falls. The Berlin situation grows tense, and up it goes. A few quiet days, and the fever subsides.

All this is bound to produce uncertainty in the top military circles of the western nations. But the question—and it's one that doesn't seem to have had much public discussion—is whether the uncertainty may not be part of the Russian strategy of economic, not political, war.

This is only a question, not a certainty. There is no doubt that the Soviet government has millions under arms and millions more available, or that it is working in closest secrecy to perfect new and terrible weapons. The western countries cannot ignore these factors or fail to prepare defenses against them.

SOVIET PLOT?

At the same time it is possible that all the Russian accusations and professed fears and provocative tactics are part of a long-range Soviet plot to gain a number of Communist objectives with a minimum risk of conflict. Perhaps Mr. Vishinsky, with his screamings, thumpings and apologetic countenance, is coolly

The Times of London

HOW LONG is it since in response to an expression of thanks we heard "You're welcome?" Surely a very long time, and yet there was something about it both pretty and gracious. It supplied a felt want, not met by a mumbled "Welcome" or something equally fatuous. Presumably poor "Welcome" became countrified and so out of the mode.

Similarly, though in rather a different circle perhaps, "I beg your pardon" once produced "Granted" as surely as a penny produced a piece of butter-scotch out of an automatic machine. Now it has wholly departed and "Sorry" evokes "All right." Again those of us now of a certain age were early taught one lesson: whenever we had reluctantly to shake "the massive paws of elder persons" we must in reply to their "How do you do?" say "Very well, thank you," with an added inquiry as to the health of our torturers. It must be admitted to be rather a comfort that the original question has now become a purely rhetorical one, for the dialogue was apt to be unending.

It is not only in these friendly forms that we have fallen away. The retort discourteous is hardly what it was. "Sir, you're a fellow," "Sir," replied Mr. Pickwick, "You're another." He would scarcely say it to-day, for even the Tu Quoque of our private school days is dead, and has not left its peer. We know none of the right answers.

carrying out a well-prepared program. Perhaps his mission to Paris is simply to create more turmoil, with no thought of negotiation.

Possibly the Russian leaders are thinking somewhat in this vein: We are not in shape for a long war, and the United States will not launch a "preventive" war. But the more we accuse the Americans of planning aggression the more the western world will think that we are arming furiously to protect ourselves or to strike the first blow.

That being the case, they—and particularly America—will arm more furiously in return. Money meant for the Marshall Plan will be diverted to armaments for America and western Europe. Finally the Marshall Plan will fail. And Europe, on the verge of financial, industrial and moral collapse, will be ripe for revolution and communism.

The above is just a guess. It may be wrong, but it is not impossible. And since it is not, it presents a problem which the heads of western governments have doubtless considered. That problem is how to build up a strong and safe defence and still not impoverish the free world by squandering vital goods and money on an unnecessarily big war machine.

CALMNESS AND FIRMNESS

One immediate way to tackle this problem, we believe, is for the representatives of free governments in Paris to stop trying to match Mr. Vishinsky in insult and vituperation, thus perhaps playing into his hands. Another is for the heads of those free governments to strive even harder to counter Russian provocations with calmness as well as firmness.

GLOBAL SURVEY

(Editor's Note: L. S. Chakales, AP chief of bureau in Athens, prepared the following analysis of the Greek situation while in the United States on home leave. He now is en route back to his post in Athens.)

By L. S. CHAKALES for DeWitt Mackenzie
Associated Press News Analyst
THERE will be a lot of questions asked when the next United States Congress gets a proposal to dip into the till for an additional two to three hundred million dollars for Greece. The congressmen are going to ask sponsors of the bill why President Truman and Ambassador Joseph Grady reported opposite results in Greece within a few days of each other.

State Secretary Marshall's unexpected but brief absence from United Nations in Paris to visit Greece two weeks ago was the beginning of the build-up for the request to Congress.

The day Marshall arrived in Athens, Grady, who had been conspicuously silent about the guerrilla war, bobbed up with an announcement that the Greek army's progress against the Communist-led guerrillas was not "satisfactory."

This didn't jibe with Truman's statement a few days previously. The President described the campaign against the Communists in Greece as a "conspicuous success."

It would also appear that the ambassador was out of step with the American military mission and the Greek government. Lt. Gen. James A. Van Fleet, who heads the mission; Premier Themistokles Sophoulis and Deputy Premier Constantine Tsaldaris previously had promised the Greeks and the world that the "backbone" of the guerrillas' resistance would be broken by the end of the year.

It now appears that the tough "Andartes" won't be cleaned out completely by next summer, as it was generally believed and hoped for by the highest American and Greek authorities in Athens.

HIGH-LEVEL CONFLICTS

These conflicts on the highest levels in Washington and Athens cannot be dismissed easily. But there is a partial explanation, which goes back to March, 1947, when the Truman doctrine was pronounced.

The first American military men to appraise the Greek situation underestimated the guerrillas and overestimated the enthusiasm of Greek politicians and military leaders when the aid was announced.

When the combat section of the American mission actually got to moving last spring, Van Fleet and his aides felt they could use considerably more military funds than allocated by Dwight Griswold for suppression of the rebels.

Griswold actually gave the military side more than half of the $340,000,000, including $40,000,000 in post-Unrra money. The military men also felt that with good luck the job might be accomplished with the money on hand, plus approximately $150,000,000 from the second Greek-Turkish aid bill.

HOPES SLUMP

These hopes didn't slump until the middle stages of the Grammos Mountain campaign in August.

It took three months for 60,000 Greek soldiers to root approximately 15,000 guerrillas out of Grammos and the adjacent area. The government had hoped to do it in a month.

That extra two months cost a lot of money. Now the Greek army has bumped into equally stubborn resistance in the Vitsi mountains near the juncture of the Yugoslav and Albanian borders. This also is costing a lot of money.

As a result funds which were supposed to last until June 30, 1949, are running short.

And the guerrillas haven't shown any signs of disintegrating.

They are still powerful enough to impose a Communist regime on Athens if the Greek army's sources of supply run out.

Toronto Saturday Night
The modern university is beset by the danger of too high a degree of specialization in its teaching and a narrow, commercial approach to the subjects taught. While this danger besets the sciences particularly, where men and women think they are going to university solely to get a technical training, it besets the other courses as well.

The basic question is this: Is a university supposed to teach people to make a living, or how to live, or a reasonable mixture of both?

Rural Areas Complain Of City Tax Share

PORT ALBERNI — Claim by rural ratepayers that Port Alberni's share of the assessment for school purposes is too low in relation to the remainder of the school district, will be decided by the Assessment Equalization Board which completed hearings here.

Gerald Grey, speaking for rural ratepayers, said the intention of the Cameron report was to tax industry for education, but because of special assessments the objective was being defeated. Gordon Campbell, city solicitor, told the board, there was no question that Port Alberni's special assessment agreements with industry were by special act, and could only be repealed by special act.

Parkville Seeks Quick Resurfacing

PARKVILLE — Village commissioners requested resurfacing of a portion of the Island Highway as soon as possible, following protests of residents, on notification from the Provincial Department of Public Works that the portion would not be resurfaced this year.

Residents stated that the sections in question are used a great deal by those living in the area and have not had much repair work done to them since the new highway project started. Surfacing of the main highways in the Parkville area are now complete with good roads leading north, south and west of the village.

Ganges Trustees To Aid Students

GANGES — Arrangements to pay $7 a month toward the cost of room and board of any district student who finds it necessary to attend high school away from home were made by Salt Spring Island school trustees at a meeting here.

Provincial Department of Education will make a similar grant and all applications must be made to the school board secretary.

Consideration was given by trustees to an application for a salary schedule from Ganges branch of the British Columbia Teachers' Federation. Increases in salary were granted to the school bus driver and janitor.

10 PER CENT CUT ON FUEL COSTS

In spite of rising prices here's one way to cut living costs this winter! Keep your heating plant at peak efficiency—experts say you may be wasting as much as 10 per cent of the fuel you use!

One sure way to see that you are getting full benefit from the fuel you burn is to have your furnace, hot-water tank and all heating pipes covered with Johns-Manville asbestos insulation. These J-M insulations can help you save several tons of coal each year or the equivalent in gas or oil. They keep heat from escaping into your cellar—help send it upstairs where you want it!

Johns-Manville suggests you ask your plumber about Asbestosco Range Boiler Jackets and Pipe Coverings, which will save you up to 10 per cent on your fuel bills, every year.

If War Should Come... South Africa's Position

(Note: This is the third of six stories describing the speed-up of defence preparations throughout the Commonwealth in face of threatened war. It assesses the place of South Africa in Commonwealth planning in view of strong Nationalist sentiment in the Union.)

CAPETOWN (Reuter)—South Africa, as the other dominions, is stiffening its defences to meet any emergency that the east-west crisis in international affairs may bring.

The armed forces are being brought to full strength. Industry has had a government hint it must prepare for war production. Communications with the rest of Africa are going to be improved.

No doubt is felt here that the Union is fully prepared to play an active part with Britain and the administrations of British African colonies in the overall scheme for African defence.

But in the Commonwealth defence picture, South Africa is a blur. Britain, without writing off South Africa altogether, has built her Empire defence machinery so it will run with the Union in or out.

This is not a new policy.

Three-fifths of the people are descendants of those against whom Britain fought in the Boer War. And South Africans have a traditional dislike of feeling they have been bound in advance in international affairs.

LEFT OUT OF PLAN

Britain to all intents has left South Africa out of the general plan for dominion security. In Africa she has concentrated more on East Africa than on the Union, apart from the South Atlantic naval headquarters at Simonstown.

South Africa's decision to participate in the Second World War was by the narrowest parliamentary margin.

Defence Minister F. C. Erasmus had made it clear in parliament that he intends to do everything possible to bring South Africa's army to full strength and have it in a state of readiness for any emergency.

In an address to an industrial convention at East London, he urged industry to make South Africa self-sufficient. With the world in its present state, he said, South African industry must be prepared to play an even greater part in an emergency than it did in the Second World War.

The political correspondent of the pro-Empire Natal Mercury says Charles Te Water, South Africa's ambassador extraordinary who is attending the United Nations General Assembly in Paris, has been instructed to discuss with the British Colonial Office proposals for a close working agreement between British Territories in Africa and the Union, to integrate African defence plans.

ANTI-AGGRESSION BULWARK

The same newspaper's political correspondent says the Union cabinet has decided that there should be close Anglo-South African liaison in erecting an anti-aggression bulwark in Africa, since both Britain and the Union are firmly entrenched on the continent and their sympathies in the event of war are likely to be identical. This policy will include the linking, by proposed new road, of South Africa, the Rhodesias and Kenya to ensure land communications between the Cape and the military supply base at Mombasa.

Instant Retaliation By Air Plan Of U.S.

In the air: B-29s like these would still be the "instant retaliation" weapon, aided by improved Superfort version, B-50.

Note: This is the third in a series of four articles on "How Ready is the United States?" if war should come.

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
WASHINGTON—In the air, if war should come:

Within hours after war was officially declared, B-29s would be headed for the enemy, probably loaded with atomic bombs. Targets would be key industrial and military points. The goal of this initial action would be a quick knockout. Some air force experts believe this could end the war in a hurry. At least, they believe, it would give the U.S. a chance to get on a more complete military footing.

If this "instant retaliation" doesn't end the war immediately, however, the phase of air warfare which would follow would be considerably different from what it was during World War II, as a result of scientific progress made in the development of weapons since then.

The 600-mile-per-hour jet fighters—the F-80, F-84 and F-86—might eliminate the aerial "dog fight" as a part of sky fighting. They fly too fast to get a shot at each other. Their turns are so wide because of the speed that it has been found in combat that the planes lose each other. It is planned to use them as interceptors against enemy bombers, for reconnaissance and against ground targets.

It wouldn't take long for "instant retaliation" to use up America's present supply of B-29s. The improved version of that plane, the B-50, would probably become the main long-range punch of the air force. It is predicted the giant B-36, soon expected to have a 12,000-mile range, would be used for extremely distant missions.

The much-publicized jet bombers would probably have limited use in supporting ground movements. The B-45 would be the first type to see action. Its extremely short range prohibits use for long-range strategic bombing.

If the A-bomb were used, last war's mass raids probably would not be necessary. Fewer bombers—maybe only one—with A-bombs would constitute a raid. Each strike would be much more carefully planned, with feints and diversionary tactics preceding them. Maximum fighter protection would accompany each bomber.

Refuelling bombers in the air to give them longer range would also become a new part of the standard air operations. In spite of billions spent on guided missile research, the air force hasn't uncovered one that could be used against the enemy in a war in the near future. New weapons which are by-products of this research, however, would make the next war a big step closer to so-called push-button warfare.

Radio-controlled drones, pilotless planes, were used to a minor degree during the last war. They have been vastly improved since then. A B-29 drone loaded with an A-bomb could be dived into a target. A half-dozen mother planes—each with the power to control the drone's flight in case one or the other should be knocked out—would raise the odds of laying an A-bomb dead into a target.

New types of bombs have also been developed recently which give the bombardier limited control over its flight after the bomb is dropped. One has a tiny television transmitter in the nose. The bombardier can watch its direction all during the drop, see where it is headed, and guide it by remote control from the plane. In addition, a bomb has been invented which will automatically veer in the direction of concentrations of light, heat or sound. An open hearth furnace, a lighted city or a booming artillery battery would attract it.

There have been improvements in anti-aircraft guns, but it is believed that the increased altitude at which the newest model

Jets like the B-84 would intercept rather than "dog fight."

Guided missile research still hasn't proved usable weapon.

But television bomb, guided by man in plane, is ready to use.

planes can fly and their increased speed at least balance these refinements and perhaps outweigh them. Generally it is felt that an air offence in the next war would be deadlier than it was during the last war, in comparison to the effectiveness of a defence.

Supersonic speed planes which the air force has developed would not figure in an immediate war. It is doubtful whether supersonic speeds will figure in air warfare much before five or ten years. By that time the whole supersonic program might be within the guided missile concept of fighting.

In the air force, as with the other services, a higher percentage of the troops will have to be electronics experts. The increased use of radio, the introduction of television to bombing, the use of drones and the use of radio-controlled bombs make this necessary.

It is believed possible that these steps toward actual push-button warfare might reduce casualties among the men who are fighting the war. It means that in any next war, however, the civilians can expect more casualties.

Tomorrow: At the Pentagon.

District Governor Lauds Club Growth

The growth of Kiwanis membership throughout Canada and the United States was lauded by Loomis Baldrey of Bellingham, Wash., at the Victoria club's luncheon Tuesday.

Baldrey, lieutenant-governor of Pacific Northwest district number one, noted that the district, which has 15 clubs at the present time, would soon welcome the Burlington, Wash., club into the group.

During his address Mr. Baldrey gave examples of the charitable work of the organization.

"Kiwanis work is from hand to mouth," he said, "from our hands to the mouths of those in need." The lieutenant-governor told of the work of the Port Angeles club which has five buses to pick up children and old people in the surrounding area and brings them into town for church and Sunday school.

Turning to world problems, Mr. Baldrey claimed that our refusal to follow natural laws was a major cause of strife. He stated that we are not born to suffer, but bring suffering on ourselves.

The speaker was thanked for his address by Denis Hagar, local member and lieutenant-governor elect for the district.

Name Candidates

Annual elections in the Victoria Kiwanis Club will take place in two weeks, it was announced Tuesday, as the nominating committee released its list of candidates for the coming year.

Bonds Selling Well In Province

Companies in British Columbia report sale of Canada saving bonds on the payroll savings plan are in excess of last year's subscriptions, it was learned today.

Purchases by railway employees are $4,000,000 ahead of the last year's issue with total bond buying to date $10,948,600, while armed forces purchases are nearly $1,000,000 ahead of last year with $4,728,000.

It was pointed out that the average employee application through payroll savings is $207 compared with $195 in its last issue. It is expected that this year's total sales by payroll savings will surpass last year's total of $109,000,000.

Sales of Canada savings bonds on payroll savings plan to date total 275,956 individual orders with a value of $57,176,900. For the same time last year 246,911 orders were sold totaling $48,319,550.

Clubwomen's News

National Report—Mrs. M. C. Fuller, president, Victoria Presbyterian, Presbyterian Women's Missionary Society, gave an informative report on the annual council meeting held recently in Toronto, at a meeting in St. Andrew's Presbyterian lecture room. The many changes and advances in the W.M.S. as an organization throughout Canada in the past year, the financial achievements and other departments of the society were fully covered. Refreshments were served and a social hour enjoyed.

Help Kidneys If Back Aches

If you suffer from Backache, Getting Up, Night, Loss of Energy, Bladder Weakness, Burning or Itching Passages, Leg Aches, or Rheumatic Pains, due to Kidney and Bladder troubles, you should try Cystex. Within 30 minutes Cystex usually starts helping the kidneys clean out excess acids and irritating wastes which may be the real cause of your trouble. And this may quickly help you gain pep and energy—make you feel younger. Unless Cystex quickly brings you satisfactory help from the pains and distress of Kidney and Bladder troubles, simply return the empty package and you get your money back. You have everything to gain and nothing to lose, so don't suffer another day without asking your druggist for Cystex.

The cloche is back—dear to the hearts of women who were young 25 years ago. But it is not the eyebrow-hugging monstrosity which makes us laugh at old snapshots. The new cloche is small and worn more to the back of the head, coming just to the hair-line in front. It is shown mostly in pastels and bright colors.

Personal Notes

Mrs. Dorothy Fanning has returned to her home at Ganges Harbor, Salt Spring Island, following a holiday in Victoria, the guest of her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Simms.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Watson, Fifth Street, have returned from a ten-day plane trip to Los Angeles and San Diego. They were met in Los Angeles by Mr. Watson's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Watson and were their guests at their San Diego home.

A miscellaneous shower was held recently for Miss Jessie Smith, a November bride-elect, at the home of Mrs. W. J. Parry. Those present were Mesdames E. Smith, mother of the bride-to-be, M. Pedersen, L. DeCosta, W. Dawson, W. Hunter, D. Middlemass, C. English, W. M. Halmerston, mother of the groom-elect, W. J. Parry and Miss Dorris Halmarson.

Members of the Omicron Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, held a preferential tea at the home of Miss Darlaine Woodburn, 1518 Fell Street, last Sunday, to honor three new pledges, Misses Thelma Burnett, Betty Laurie and Yvonne Muir. Autumn flowers in bronze and mauve were used for decoration. Presiding at the tea tables were Miss Margaret Walker, chapter president; Miss Shirley Baker and Miss Dorothy Duckitt.

Miss Kathleen Porter who accepted an exchange teacher's position in Montreal this year, was honored with other exchange teachers Tuesday in Montreal, when the executive of the Exchange Teachers' League entertained at the tea hour in the Montreal Business and Professional Women's Club. Other honor guests included Miss Betty Allen and Miss Helen Brown of Vancouver; Miss Lucille Lienhart, Kalamazoo, Mich.; and Miss Lucy Hargreaves, West London, England. Miss Porter expects to return to Victoria early next summer.

Miss Patricia Jordan, daughter of Capt. and Mrs. E. F. Jordan, Cadboro Bay Road, a nursing student at University of British Columbia, has been chosen Thunderbird Princess and will reign over the university's homecoming festivities from today until Saturday. Miss Jordan, who represents Applied Science faculty, was chosen by vote at last Saturday's football game, from among seven candidates. Homecoming celebrations begin today with autumn congregation and opening of a new library wing and close next Saturday with a giant homecoming dance.

To honor their mother, Mrs. Fred Crofton, on the occasion of her birthday, and as a farewell to their niece, Miss Sylvia Crofton, who is sailing shortly for England, Mrs. G. Shove, Mrs. F. Morris, Miss Denie Crofton, D. K. Crofton, P. D. Crofton and Lt.-Col. Desmond Crofton entertained over 75 guests at an after-five party at Harbor House, Ganges, Salt Spring Island. Rooms were decorated with dahlias, chrysanthemums and autumn leaves and the refreshment table centred with a silver vase of dahlias, flanked with yellow candles in silver holders. A toast to Mrs. Crofton was proposed by Mr. O. Leigh-Spencer, who also wished Miss Sylvia Crofton and Miss Jane Ride-wood of Victoria, who will travel with her, "bon voyage."

Honoring Miss Beverley Moore, whose marriage takes place Saturday evening, Mrs. J. E. McRoberts and her daughter, Miss Gloria McRoberts, entertained with a miscellaneous shower at their home on McClure Street. The rooms were attractively decorated with autumn flowers and the gifts concealed in a treasure chest in gold and green. Corsage bouquets of roses were presented to the bride-elect and her mother, Mrs. W. J. Moore. A buffet supper was served with Mrs. W. J. Moore presiding at the urns. Other invited guests were Mrs. H. Rose, Toronto; Mrs. J. Jenks, Toronto; Mesdames F. Hobson, W. Vey, L. May, V. Stoddart, J. F. Thompson, E. Holloway, C. Muston, D. Nairne, W. Davis, J. Fulton, W. Bray, G. Silburn, J. Tippet, E. Silburn, C. Flett, A. L. Battie, G. Butler, T. W. James, Misses I. Stoddart, M. Clapp, I. Jacklin, A. Myers, G. Mark and G. Muston.

Accept Praise With Finesse

Turning the compliment that you receive into another channel is a social art which serves to save you and the giver embarrassment.

Since many older women blush and make confused replies when they are praised, it is not surprising that less-experienced young girls can be thrown by direct compliments, use the old but dependable trick of easing the subject away from yourself. That can usually be accomplished with slick finesse, if you'll have your technique ready for come what may.

Take the compliment which tells a pretty girl that she should be in the movies. When you have to deal with that one you can jestingly tell the man who pays you this compliment that you flopped in your screen tests. And add before he gets a chance to reply whatever information you can pull out of your hat about Hollywood's newest film discovery.

Pretty Singer Claims Destiny Decides Career

MONTREAL (CP) — Pretty night club singer Jeanne d'Arc Charlebois thinks "you can become a great star overnight because the thing called destiny decides the course of your life." But she believes in helping destiny by hard work.

The statuesque, ash-blond Jeanne, who has spent 12 of her 26 years before the footlights, is a good example of a city girl who reversed the usual order of entertainment life by making good in the "sticks" and then setting out to wow the big city. A natural mimic, she includes in her repertoire a series of male imitations. She doesn't stop there. Jeanne also imitates male imitators imitating other people.

The versatile young woman says she believes the thing called destiny decides the course of your life, "and all I'm doing is helping it along by working hard."

In her career, Jeanne has had more proposals of marriage than the average girl, many of them from complete strangers. However, when she says "no" she can make it sound convincing without giving too much offense because she's a big girl, measuring five feet seven inches in her stocking feet and weighing 145 pounds.

MANY APPEARANCES

Playing the night club circuit in Montreal and country towns, with radio appearances and recordings as a sideline, Jeanne expects to be in show business for a long time.

"I have a perfect understanding with my public," she says, "as long as they don't tire of me, I'll not tire of them."

Marriage doesn't interfere with her career. Two years ago she took time out to make a trip to Rhode Island to wed Oliver Guimond — better known as "Tizoune, Jr.," the French-Canadian star comedian of the Canadian Art Theatre in the same church in which her grandparents were wed.

"Our marriage is working out very well," she says. "That's because we have so much in common. We're both show people. I love clothes and he likes to see me well dressed.

CBC To Decide On Policy Towards Television, F.M.

OTTAWA (CP)—The CBC board of governors is scheduled to decide this week whether television should be given the go-ahead signal in Canada.

The board met in camera today and dealt with corporation business. Thursday and Friday it will hold public sessions. High on the agenda are six applications seeking permission to introduce television in Toronto and Montreal.

It is expected the board will make recommendations on at least some of the applications. The recommendations are passed on to the radio-licensing authority in the Transport Department and almost invariably are accepted.

FUNDS FROM MAGAZINE

One of the early applications came from station CKY in Toronto. Jack Kent Cooke, publisher of New Liberty magazine, appeared before the board and said the profits of the station and, if necessary, some of the profits of the magazine would be used in the development of a television outlet for CKY. He is scheduled to make a further appearance before the board this week.

Another applicant was Al Leary, formerly attached to station CHUM in Toronto.

New applications for Toronto outlets have come from CFRB and the Famous Players Corporation Ltd.

The Montreal applications come from stations CFCF and CKAC.

Phil Lalonde, general manager of CKAC, will appear for that station, which is operated by La Presse Publishing Co.

Station CFCF officials would like to operate separately the F.M. outlet, which provides practically staticless broadcasts for specially constructed receiving sets. Programs on the F.M. frequency would be aimed particularly at mobile audiences such as in streetcars and buses.

Applications for licences for two standard stations will be heard. One is from George Randall, hotel owner in Nanaimo, for a 1,000-watt station in Nanaimo. The other is from Gordon S. Henry, former manager of the Edmonton Broadcasting Company's station in Edmonton. He wants a 250-watt station at Red Deer, Alta.

Authorization for power increases will be sought by CKVL in Verdun, Que., and by CKNW in New Westminster.

The board also is scheduled to hear arguments in a dispute involving the operator and some of the directors of station CJDC at Dawson Creek, B.C.

The directors—W. C. Bowie, Charles Kitchen, Harry Giles, Wilbur Harper, Thomas Thompson and W. B. Michaud—claim that Miss Wilna Moore is not qualified to operate the station.

Miss Moore will appear before the board. W. Arthur McClellan, a Dawson Creek lawyer, will appear for the directors.

Appeals To Youth To Enter Ministry

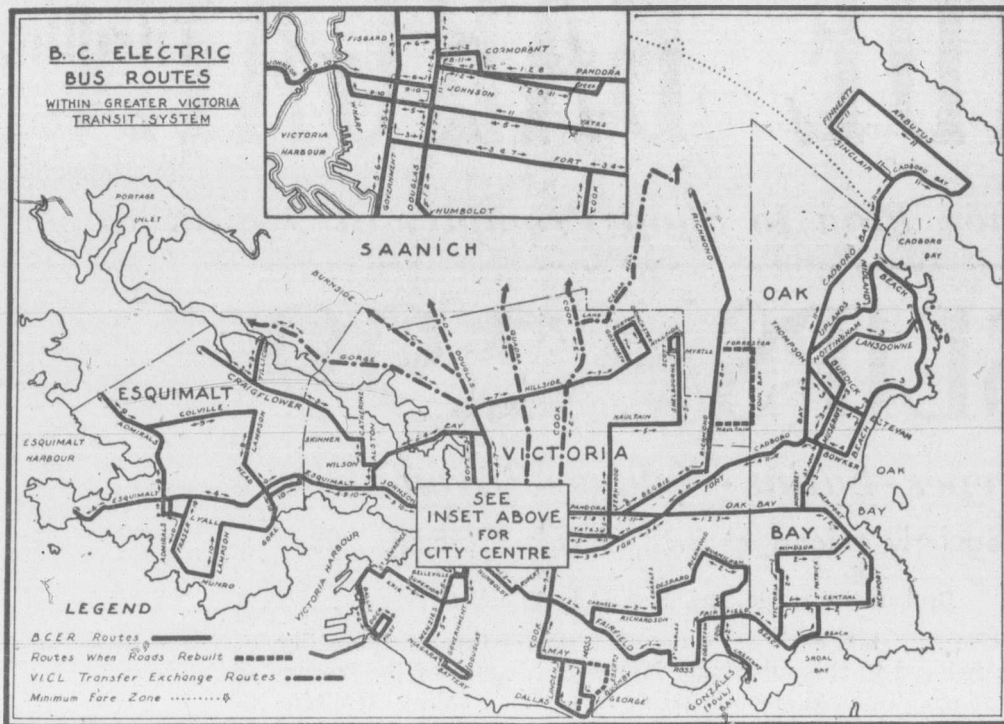

OTTAWA (CP)—Most Rev. G. F. Kingston of Halifax, Anglican Primate of All Canada, Tuesday evening appealed to Canadian youth to "hear the call to the ministry."

"We are short of men for the ministry, especially in the western part of Canada," the Archbishop of Nova Scotia said in a sermon delivered to celebrate the 50th anniversary of St. Matthew's Church.

"We need clergy, but we hesitate to call on England, owing to the shortage of men in the ministry over there," he said.

Archbishop Kingston said that at both the Lambeth Conference and the World Council of Churches the call to worship had been sounded. "There is so much in difference in other parts of the world today that there is a need for it."

Final Routes Of New Bus System In Operation

B.C. Electric bus routes shown by numbers and letters in the above map are: 1—Gonzales-Shoal Bay; 2—Richardson-Oak Bay; 3—Uplands-Victoria West; 4—Willows-Esquimalt; 5—Beacon Hill-Hatfield; 6—Outer Wharf; 7—Hillside-South Fairfield; 8—Mt. Tolmie; 9—Colville; 10—Munro; 11—Cadbrough Bay. Vancouver Island Coach Lines transfer exchange routes are: (a) Gorge-Tillamook, Admirals, Helmcken Road; (b) Lake Hill-Beckwith; (c) Burnside-Tillamook-Wilkinson; (d) Douglas-Agnes-Ralph; (e) Cook-Lang-Cedar Hill, Maplewood, Gordon Head.

Completion of road repair programs in Greater Victoria is having a marked effect on the stabilizing of the B.C.E.R. and V.I. Coach Lines transportation routes, and transportation users now are getting a chance to study the final routes in operation.

Many temporary route changes effected during the road surfacing program created considerable confusion for both riders and the bus companies, but this situation is clearing up fast, said H. Rowland Halls, B.C. Electric's transportation manager.

In consultation with Ald. H. M. Diggon and officials of the joint transportation committee, Mr. Halls said routes, stops and schedules have been almost completely finalized in accordance with the terms of the franchise, and the B.C.E.R. now is preparing schedule folders which will outline details of the system for the traveling public.

Mr. Halls also stated the company is preparing plans for the numbering of the various routes and displaying the numbers on the destination name plates on the buses.

"We appreciate the fact that traveling conditions have been difficult during the months since the changeover to bus routes became effective but we feel that these difficulties are now behind us and we will be able to fully implement the franchise terms and such amendments as have been instituted by the elected officials," Mr. Halls said.

Canada Hunts Junk Yards Of World For Scrap Iron

OTTAWA (CP)—Steel Controller F. K. Ashbaugh says a critical steel shortage has forced Canada to start a trek for iron and steel scrap in the junkyards of the world.

Negotiations are being carried on in Hongkong, Singapore, Australia, Japan, South America and Germany to buy whatever is available.

So dark is the picture that all Canadian industry and construction, with the exception of housing, is feeling the pinch, Mr. Ashbaugh said Tuesday night in an interview.

He added that to the man-in-the-street the shortage is a vague and uncertain problem. But it might become real to him in shortages of Canadian-built automobiles, refrigerators, stoves and furnaces if the dearth of steel continues for any length of time. These industries have been asked to "fend for themselves," to buy steel wherever they can until the problem is solved.

One gleam of hope is in the Montreal report of an electrical steel-refining process that cuts the job from 24 hours to 30 minutes.

But the "refining-by-electricity" process, still in its pilot stages, is a "revolutionary" process for the future. What is needed, said Mr. Ashbaugh, is about $20,000,000 worth of blast furnaces, coke ovens and open hearths as soon as possible.

Biggest news for Ontario is that a $15,000,000 blast furnace may be built in that province. One location under consideration is Sault Ste. Marie.

The government is prepared to shoot the works on costs. A cabinet spokesman told the Canadian Press the government is willing to subsidize steel construction costs.

It will do everything within its power to alleviate the shortage," he said.

DOMESTIC SURVEY

The government also has ordered Trade Department supervisors to survey Canadian scrapyards for an estimate of what can be made available to the steel industry.

Canada's current steel shortage is estimated at 1,000,000 tons of ingots a year. She also requires another 200,000 tons of scrap a year.

What has caused the sudden shortage? Mr. Ashbaugh said it could be placed at the door of the big United States defence plan and the terrifically-expanded postwar Canadian economy.

He estimated that between 500 and 1,000 new Canadian businesses and industries requiring steel have sprung up since the war. They now are crying for steel.

Turtle Soup For Mayor's Banquet

LONDON (Reuter)—Four 200-pound turtles arrived at London airport Tuesday night from Trinidad to provide soup for the Lord Mayor's banquet here Nov. 8. It cost £200 ($800) to transport the turtles in a British South American Airways plane. Each turtle will supply an estimated 30 quarts of soup for the banquet at which Sir George Aylwin will be installed as London's Lord Mayor for the coming year.

The turtles, apparently unaware of their impending fate, walked from the plane. In keeping with a centuries-old practice, they were given bottles of a delicacy fancied by turtles about to die—a mixture of champagne and oysters.

Kelowna On Guard Against Firebug

KELOWNA (CP)—Fire guards Tuesday night patrolled the streets of this Okanagan Valley fruit centre in a new move against a "firebug on the loose" who has already struck 11 times during the last three weeks.

Three more arson attempts were reported Tuesday. Waste was set afire outside a co-operative store, tar paper on the outside of a church under construction was ignited and an attempt was made to fire a warehouse.

Five fires reported Sunday were termed "incendiary in origin" by Fire Chief Fred Gore. Officials from the provincial fire marshal's office were continuing their investigation with the aid of provincial police and civilians.

Rampaging Canadiens Move Into Toronto

Undeclared after four games and each hotter than a four-alarm fire, Detroit Red Wings and Montreal Canadiens tackle near-the-cellar clubs in tonight's National Hockey League games.

With only one tie marring their near-perfect record, Detroit visits New York to play the Rangers who have a solitary tie to brighten their dismal showing to date.

Canadiens, tied for second place with Boston one point behind Detroit, play the Maple Leafs in Toronto.

The United States presidential election campaign forced postponement of the scheduled Boston-Chicago clash at Chicago. It will be played tomorrow night.

Only a Detroit loss and a Montreal victory can produce any significant shift in league standings which have Red Wings, Canadiens and Bruins already bunched well ahead of the trailing Leafs, Rangers and Black Hawks.

Manager Conn Smythe plans to add a sixth defenceman to his ailing Leafs to help coach Hap Day begin his plan of five-man playing units.

BETTER BALANCE

"We will have a better balanced club with six defencemen," Smythe said. "We will be able to assign a pair of defencemen to each of our three forward units which will help us develop our less experienced players."

Black Hawks left Toronto for home last night, after their winless seven-week road trip, with the three new players they picked up from Detroit in Monday's trade.

Jim Conacher centred one line between Gus Bodnar, shifted to right wing, and left wing Gaye Stewart. Rep. Cudiholm was at left wing working with Adam Brown and Metro Prystai while defenceman Doug McCaig worked with Bob Goldham.

Asked if the main idea of the trade was to strengthen Hawks' weak defence, coach Charlie Conacher said: "I'm interested in anything that looks like a hockey player."

Bud Poile and George Gee, traded to Wings, will be used in Detroit's game tonight in New York.

Hugh Casey Takes Rickey To Task

NEW YORK (AP)—Portly Hugh Casey, latest of the Brooklyn Dodgers to move over to Pittsburgh, predicted today the Brooks won't finish in the first division next year.

The veteran relief hurler said Branch Rickey's youth movement has flopped and that it cost the Dodgers the 1948 pennant when Eddie Stanky was traded to Boston and Dixie Walker was sent to Pittsburgh.

"That youth stuff can be overdone," the 35-year-old right-hander said in an interview at his Brooklyn tavern.

"Kids are great, but you need tried competitors to close in on a pennant. If we had had Walker's bat in the stretch and the drive and will to win of Stanky, we would have won."

Ketchikan Bears Fly Here For Grid Clash

Kayhi Polar Bears from Ketchikan, Alaska, will arrive here tomorrow night by chartered plane for a return grid fixture with Oak Bay Goblins billed here Friday night at Athletic Park under the arcs.

Game will get under way at 7.30, and the visitors will get in trim with a light workout Friday afternoon. Nineteen players are making the trip, and according to members of the local squad, the club is well equipped and has a strong backing in the northern centre.

Coaches Don Low and Owen Gilpin of Goblins report their squad is in excellent condition for the tussle and are confident of sweeping the series. Slated to see action in one of the end positions.

United Players Ready For North Shore Tilt

Following a stiff workout last night Manager Roy Barnes announced his Victoria United players in tip top shape for the Coast League soccer match here Saturday against league-leading North Shore. Game will be played at Athletic Park, starting at 2.15. With any kind of break from the weatherman the clubs should attract a big attendance.

Barnes plans another light drill Thursday night, after which he will decide on his starting line-up. Paul Withum, Swiss star, was unable to attend last night's practice but will be on hand Thursday. "I understand he is in good shape and if he is ready it is possible Withum will start at centre-forward Saturday," Barnes said.

"Otherwise Joe Robbins will move up to the centre slot with the object of providing the club with additional punch up front."

ARE UNBEATEN
North Shore will take the field against the United with an undefeated record for the season. The Reds hold first place by virtue of three wins and a like number of draws in six starts.

North Shore and the United battled to a 1 to 1 draw on the mainland.

Appearing at centre-forward for the visitors will be Frank Ambler, considered by many as the No. 1 pivot player in the coast circuit. Play of the Reds this season has been highlighted by the fine performances of those two veterans Trevor Harvey and Jimmy Spencer. Last Saturday it was Harvey who set up Ambler for the lone goal to beat St. Andrews.

Secretary Ed Mackenzie of the United, announced today that the school children who held tickets for last Saturday's match which was canceled, can use the same tickets for admission to the clash against North Shore.

Scribes Bemoan Hockey Prospects Of Rangers; Boucher Confident

NEW YORK (CP)—New York sport writers are crying about the prospects this season of their battered Rangers of the National Hockey League.

But not so Manager Frank Boucher, whose fifth-place team tonight faces the first-place Detroit Red Wings in the opening game of the season at Madison Square Garden.

"The soft-spoken Boucher failed to be flustered even when star centre Buddy O'Connor told him last night by telephone from Montreal:

"I just had another X-ray taken and it shows two ribs broken instead of one."

Cracked Boucher: "Well, stop posing for pictures!"
Later, at a dinner for radio and press men, the blue-shirt manager gave reasons for his confidence.

Loss of O'Connor and defenceman Frank Edmonds—both injured in an automobile accident Oct. 9—would be a severe blow to the team, he said.

But the fans could expect good things from the Rangers later in the season. "We haven't been building a hollow shell during the last few years," said Boucher.

The confident talk and good food failed, however, to give much cheer to those assembled. Some pointed to the two losses and one tie the Rangers have experienced in the three games they have played.

Sterope At 25 to 1 Puts Over Thrilling Cambridgeshire Win

Toronto Argos Plan Rebuilding For Next Season

TORONTO (CP)—Toronto Argonauts hope to get back on top of the football heap in 1949 with another all-Canadian team. That was the word from the camp of the Big Four Football Union club which now has only the faintest chance of getting into this season's league playoff—quite a comedown for a team which won the Dominion championship for the last three years.

A source close to the club disclosed that Argos may make one slight concession to the growing trend of importing star players from the United States.

Next year an American line coach may be acquired to teach Argos linemen how to take the best possible advantage of the 10-yard interference zone, a weakness in the team's line in the last three years.

It appears almost certain that the 1949 team will be built once more around that potent pair of touchdown twins, Joe Krol and Royal Copeland, whose injuries this season had much to do with the decline in Argos fortunes.

Most of the other veteran players are expected to be back again and the club is counting strongly on graduates from junior ranks. It sponsored an Argos team in the Junior Big Four Union this season and also gave a helping hand to the Parkdale Lions juniors. It hopes to find still further capable talent in high school ranks.

It is expected that Teddy Morris, the dynamic little man who was a great player before he gave up his cleats for the coaching bench, will be back in charge of the team once more.

Calgary Junior Pucksters Rack Up Third Victory

CALGARY (CP)—Calgary Buffaloes today are riding the crest of a three-game winning streak in the Western Canada Junior Hockey League, their latest victory coming last night at the expense of Medicine Hat Tigers. The score was 8 to 3.

Some 1,500 fans saw Bob Schmid and Sid Finney tally a brace of goals each to strengthen Buffs hold atop the newly-organized hockey loop. Merv Clouston led the losers' attack with two goals.

The Tigers, battling for their first victory of the season, fought on nearly even terms with the home team until the Buffs blasted home five counters in the third period. Buffs took a 2 to 0 lead.

The opening counter but the Tigers came back with a single point in the middle session to get back into the game.

The third period told the tale, however.

FIRST AID AT GAMES
We respectfully seek the medium of your paper to direct public attention to the situation confronting us from time to time in efforts to provide first aid service at the various playing fields in Victoria.

St. John personnel cannot go on the playing area at any game except by pre-arrangement or request at the time of mishap by the official in charge of the particular game in progress. This latter circumstance is not always appreciated by some spectators when they notice an injured player seemingly neglected.

Most well-appointed clubs have trainers to look after their team players on and off the field, but not all trainers are qualified first aiders—as some players have found to their regret. Industrial concerns appreciate the value of trained first aid personnel on their staffs, and so we respectfully offer the suggestion to club executives, athletic and service clubs that they could help St. John Ambulance meet all their needs in the above connection by directing and encouraging more of their officials and members generally to take first aid training.

All persons possessed of a St. John senior certificate are eligible and most welcome to become members of St. John Ambulance Brigade, and so continue their training and practice in first aid to the injured. Victoria Ambulance Division meets weekly on Thursday evening at 715 View Street. Classes for others interested in taking St. John courses can be arranged. Call Victoria Centre, St. John Ambulance for ALEX M. JARVIE.

NEWMARKET, Eng. (G.P.)—The Cambridgeshire Handicap, second leg of Britain's autumn double, was won by Sterope today. Royal Tara was second.

The nine-furlong race, one of the biggest gambling events of the British turf, drew 32 runners and the finish was so driving that after a study of photographs it was announced that third place was a dead heat between Patchouly and Impeccable.

Just before the big race started it was announced that Brink, a long shot, had been withdrawn because his rider, Jack Carson, disclosed he had been given a sweepstake ticket which stood to earn him £10,000 if Wisley, a rival horse, won.

Stewards of The Jockey Club talked to Carson shortly before the start of the racing, and later the Duke of Norfolk, the senior steward, said "we informed Carson that in the circumstances we would not allow him to ride Brink."

OTHER NON-STARTERS
In addition to Brink, Red Brae and Red Gauntlet did not start. Sterope, sired by Mid-Day Sun—the winner of the derby in 1937—out of York Gala, was quoted at odds of 25 to 1 but galloped home a half-length ahead of Royal Tara, while two lengths separated Royal Tara from the dead heat third place horses.

An objection was lodged against Sterope's victory, the nature of which was not immediately disclosed, but it was overruled.

Sole De Lyon was left at the post and took no part in the race. Desir, also left at the post, was pulled up before going a furlong.

The long-odds winner, ridden by apprentice Jockey D. Schofield, literally was a financial rescue for the bookmakers who had booked thousands of pounds on the favorite, Specialty, and the second favorite, Explorer. They finished 12th and eighth respectively.

Johnny Neun Back With Yankees As Contact Official

NEW YORK (AP)—Johnny Neun, former major league first baseman and manager in both the majors and minors, returned to the New York Yankees Tuesday as a player contact man with the organization he served from 1932 through 1946.

In announcing the rehiring of Neun, who has managed both the Yankees and the Cincinnati Reds, the New York club said he also would do some "personalized scouting" with the major leagues.

A Yankee coach in 1944, 1945 and 1946, Neun stepped into the managerial post late in the 1946 season to replace Bill Dickey, who had taken over from Joe McCarthy only a short time earlier.

He went to the Reds as manager in 1947, being succeeded with the Yankees by Bucky Harris, but was replaced by Bucky Walters early in the 1948 season.

Pacing the Dynamiters to their second win over the Leafs in as many nights was Stan Wilson with three goals.

B.C. Swimming Association May Sue Olympic Committee

VANCOUVER (CP)—The British Columbia Amateur Swimming Association today threatened to sue the Canadian Olympic Games committee for $300 sent it by the B.C.A.S.A. just before the Canadian swimming team left for London.

Percy Norman of Vancouver, Canada's Olympic swimming coach in 1936, said today officials of the B.C.A.S.A. are filing application to the committee to have the money returned or a suit will be filed.

Norman charged the money was sent "under force" to the committee by the B.C.A.S.A. as last-minute support for B.C. swimmers on the team.

He said the committee, now has a surplus of $20,000 from the games.

Norman claimed in a letter that: 1. Olympic officials stayed in first-class hotels in Britain and

Adams' Attitude Robs Juniors Of Ice Coach

WINNIPEG (CP)—The big, jolly figure of Jack Adams, general manager of Detroit's National Hockey League club, today stands in the way of Hugh Millar becoming coach of the Winnipeg Canadian junior team.

The Detroit official's attitude is not one that will enable him to win friends and influence people in Winnipeg, a hot-bed of hockey talent.

Adams refuses to grant Millar, a professional defenceman, a release and this has prompted the Manitoba Hockey Association to bar Millar from the Canadiens' dressing room and any seats near the player's bench during the team's games.

Millar has been coaching the Canadiens in their practices but until he can get his release so he can obtain a Canadian Amateur Hockey Association registration card the Manitoba body won't allow him to guide the club in any league game.

F. Brooke Armstrong, a member of the Canadiens' executive, said last night Adams' stubbornness hasn't gained him any popularity around this city—in fact, he's lost a lot.

"It was a pretty niggardly attitude to take," he added. "We produce a lot of hockey players in Winnipeg and have supplied the east and the United States with lots of them. But when you ask a small favor in return—like asking for Millar's release—you get no satisfaction."

LEAD LEAGUE

Despite their coaching troubles, Canadiens are at the top of their league with two wins and one defeat.

The club executive is getting used to disappointments in their coaching selections. They picked Harry Neil, well-known Winnipeg mentor, to guide the team before the season opened. But Montreal Canadiens, with whom the juniors are connected, turned thumbs down on Neil.

With Millar, the second choice, now shunted out of the picture for the time being at least, the coaching reins have been taken over temporarily by club manager Jimmy Kennedy.

But Canadiens haven't given up the ghost in the Millar case. At a meeting last night the club executive decided to "explore one more avenue," but did not elaborate.

Meyer Takes Honors As Manager Of Year

NEW YORK (AP)—William Adam (Bill) Meyer today was voted the "manager of the year" in a poll conducted by the Associated Press among United States baseball writers.

The 56-year-old freshman pilot of Pittsburgh Pirates nosed out Billy Southworth, leader of the National League champions, Boston Braves, in a neck-and-neck race. Meyer received 89 votes to 87 for the veteran world series campaigner.

In all, 220 baseball experts took part in the voting.

Lou Boudreau, who piloted Cleveland Indians to their first American League pennant in 28 years and then led them to the world championship, ranked third with 20 votes. Joe McCarthy, whose Boston Red Sox, bowed to the Indians in an unprecedented playoff for the flag, was fourth with 19 votes.

Meyer received the No. 1 rating because of the outstanding job he did in leading the Pirates to a fourth-place finish after having them in flag contention until the final two weeks of the season. He took over a club that finished in a tie for the cellar last year with Philadelphia Phils.

Veteran Paul Rowe Tops Prairie Grid Scoring

WINNIPEG (CP)—With only one game remaining in the Western Inter-Provincial Football Union regular schedule, Paul Rowe, plunging fullback of Calgary Stampede, today holds the lead in the individual scoring race.

Statistics compiled by the Canadian Press show the big back has totalled 35 points on seven touchdowns in 12 games. Two touchdowns in the last Calgary-Saskatchewan Roughrider game but Rowe four points ahead of Gabe Patterson, fleet negro backfielder of the Riders.

With Calgary now through its schedule, Patterson has a chance to pass Rowe when Riders tangle with Winnipeg Blue Bombers in the final league game here Oct. 30.

In third place with 30 points, one point behind Patterson, is Freddy Wilmut, field-goal artist of Stampede who scored seven points in his last game. Ken Charlton of Riders, who led the scoring throughout the early part of the schedule, now holds fourth spot with 28 points, followed by Calgary's ace quarterback, Keith Spith, with 26.

STRODE FIFTH

End Woody Strode of Calgary was kept off the score sheet in his final league game, and slid to fifth position with 25 points, one point ahead of Winnipeg's Bob Sandberg.

Undeclared in their 12-game schedule, Stampede dominated the team scoring with 218 points for, and only 61 against. The second-place Bombers have totalled a mere 74 points in 11 games and have had 218 scored against them.

The tail-end Riders, battling for a playoff spot, have an impressive 117 points for and 130 against record, which will put them in the final against Calgary if they defeat Bombers in the crucial last scheduled game. The victory would place Riders in a tie with Bombers but their better scoring record would give them the nod for a berth in the two-game, total-point western championship.

Tips On Golf Rules

By ROBERT FOULIS

Tip No. 37
BALL UNFIT FOR PLAY.
A LUCKY PUTT.

It must be 15 or 20 years since I made the most extraordinary putt of my life. It was in the final of a flight in the city championship at Colwood. The 5th hole, like most long holes, has a large green. I had topped my iron shot badly and was just on the edge of the green in four. My opponent was just short of the green in 3 and, being an old St. Andrew's player, played a run-up, one of the prettiest shots in golf.

His ball stopped an inch or two short of the hole and it was a dead stymie. The hole, being at the far end of the green, looked about 100 feet away. I putted hard and, knowing it was hopeless, picked up my clubs, and walked towards the hole. The ball took one slope after another and occasionally gave a little hop as if it were enjoying itself. I was surprised to see it going near the hole. It passed my opponent's ball by the narrowest of margins, and just before coming to rest, gave one last lurch almost at right angles, and dropped in the hole. My opponent and I were the two most surprised men on earth. There was an open mouth on my ball where I had topped it and this accounted for the lucky lurch. I could have changed it if I had seen the gash as it was unfit for play. See Rule 24 and Stroke Rule 12. (I won the match on the last green.)

Favors Pensions For All

Reeve E. C. Warren of Saanich likes the principle of superannuation, but figures it is too confined in its present stage. He would like to see a nation-wide scheme instituted whereby all persons would have a "nest egg" to fall back on in their later years.

He made these remarks Tuesday night when a matter of a superannuation plan for over-age municipal employees was brought up.

The reeve considers municipal, provincial and Dominion employees in the "privileged" category, because the man on the street was helping to pay for their retirement pensions. But the man who was paying did not have the same opportunity himself.

Reeve Warren said he had expressed these sentiments to Saanich employees, said he would like to see organizations and unions work together to devise a national contributory plan, somewhat like the Social Security in the United States.

Wood Boatbuilders May Get 12½% Boost

A wage increase of 12½ per cent or 13 cents per hour, which ever is greater, was recommended today by a conciliation board for employees of the wooden boatbuilding industry in Vancouver.

The suggested boost was concurred in by the three members of the board, A. J. Cowan, chairman; W. L. White, employees' nominee, and M. M. McFarlane, companies' nominee. Mr. Cowan and Mr. White in a majority report recommended extension of union security but Mr. McFarlane opposed this.

The employees were represented by the Marine Workers and Boilermakers' Industrial Union, Local 1, while the Canadian Manufacturers' Association represented the employers.

City Council To Support Senior Citizens' Campaign

Plans for a "Senior Citizens' Week" to be held from Nov. 6 to 13 were drawn up and discussed at a meeting of the Victoria Senior Citizens' Campaign Council Tuesday. The meeting was informed that both the mayor and City Council will fully support the campaign.

By dedicating a week to the senior pensioners, the Campaign Council, together with the assistance of Branch 5 of the Old Age Pensioners' Organization, will endeavor to make every citizen fully aware of the conditions under which these pensioners must live and his responsibility to their problem.

The position of persons receiving the same or less income than that of old age pensioners with regard to hospital insurance was further clarified at the meeting. It was pointed out that if these people, when hospitalized or when registering for insurance, made special notification of their inability to pay, their cases would be considered.

It was brought to the attention of the meeting that there were a number of these cases in the city and would be investigated. William Clunk, organization committee chairman, stated that letters had been sent to the 55 Trades and Labor Councils across Canada asking their co-operation in organizing campaign councils similar to the one in Victoria to assist old age pensioners.

Saanich Liberals Elect Thursday

Rev. William Hills will address the annual meeting at 8 Thursday night in Liberal Headquarters, 1322-A Government Street, of the Saanich Liberal Association.

Beside hearing the address and witnessing a short film of the Liberal convention in Ottawa at which Louis St. Laurent was chosen national Liberal leader, the delegates will elect officers for the year.

S.R.U. To Press For Shorter Hours

Employees of the B.C. Electric transit departments here and on the mainland have voted to press for a reduction in working hours with no reduction in take-home pay during negotiations for their 1949 contract.

This was reported in Vancouver by Lloyd Easler, president of the Vancouver local of the Street Railwaymen's Union (A.F.L.), who said the union's advisory board would prepare for negotiations with the company to start next March.

The company employs more than 2,500 employees in its transit departments in Victoria, Vancouver and New Westminster.

To Begin Construction Of Whatshan Powerhouse Soon

Actual construction work on the powerhouse, switchyard and storage dam of the British Columbia Power Commission's Whatshan development will soon get under way.

A commission official said today that most of the clearing and leveling for the powerhouse and switchyard has been completed, and work is progressing fairly rapidly in boring a tunnel through the mountain range separating Whatshan Lake, the source of the water which will turn the turbines, and Lower Arrow Lake, on which the power house will be situated.

Two contracts have just been let by the commission. One is with H. S. Murphy, Nakusp, logging contractor, who will clear 24 miles of the right of way for the transmission line from the powerhouse, three miles north of Needles, to the Kettle River crossing just east of Monashee Pass.

$25,000 CRANE

The second contract calls for the construction of a 40-ton overhead crane for the powerhouse, valued at $25,000, by the B.C. Equipment Company, Vancouver.

Delivery is expected in about 42 weeks. The first stage of the development, scheduled for completion about July 1, 1950, involves installation of two 16,500 horsepower turbines, each of which will drive a 12,500 K.V.A. generator.

The power will be carried over a transmission line to Vernon, where it will supplement power supplied at present to the north Okanagan area by the commission's Shuswap hydro plant and several diesel plants.

The gross head of water for the powerhouse is about 720 feet. Water from Whatshan Lake will flow through an unlined tunnel through solid rock averaging about 11 feet in diameter for a distance of two miles.

SAFETY VALVE

At this point a 150-foot vertical tunnel through the rock to the surface will act as a natural surge tank or safety valve for the tremendous flow of water. From there the water will flow down the tunnel at an angle of about 55 degrees, then level off and be channeled into the powerhouse, first through a nine-foot concrete-lined and then through an eight-foot steel-lined tunnel.

The powerhouse will be set into a rock cut so that all pipes will be either underground or buried.

Construction of a rock fill ramp to serve scows which will bring in the heavy equipment for the powerhouse is well under way.

The upper main tunnel will be drilled from both ends, and will be on a 1 per cent grade.

Water at the Whatshan Lake intake will be kept at a high level, insuring ample flow through the tunnel at all times, by a storage dam to be built at the outlet of the lake, where the Whatshan River begins.

A power commission spokesman would make no predictions about the second stage of the development—the construction of the third and fourth generating units.

"We are concerned with getting the present stage completed and supplying adequate power to the North Okanagan district," he said. "Installation of the third and fourth units will depend upon the demand for power in the future."

The spokesman added that it was gratifying to see actual construction work starting. Surveys, clearing and leveling have been going on for more than a year.

"This will give the area to be served a tremendous boost," he added. "It is just another step in the vast rural electrification plan of the commission."

Cadet Rank Offered U.N.T.D. Members In New Navy Scheme

The rank of cadet and new opportunities for a commission in the Royal Canadian Navy or R.C.N. (Reserve) are now being offered to members of the Victoria College University Naval Training Division under a new naval policy for U.N.T.D.s across the Dominion.

Under this new scheme, a student enters the U.N.T.D. in the lowest rating for the branch for which he applies, after which he appears before an officers' selection board during his first academic year. If he is successful in passing the board, he is then advanced to the rank of cadet, R.C.N.(R).

With this new cadet rank goes a higher rate of pay during training, a new style uniform and greatly improved opportunities of making the navy a permanent career.

The successful cadet may be promoted to either the rank of acting sublieutenant in the R.C.N., or sublieutenants in the R.C.N.(R).

Under the old system a U.N.T.D. member had first to serve for one year in the division, after which he went before an officers' selection board and, if successful, qualified as an officer candidate. However, with this old rank, he continued wearing round rig and his pay was not as high as under the new scheme.

Under the new scheme, U.N.T.D. cadets wishing to qualify for a permanent force commission as an executive officer must spend three university summer vacation periods at naval training. For all other permanent force branches and all branches of the R.C.N.(R), the cadets wishing to qualify must undertake to serve two university vacation periods on naval training.

Find Elderly Man Dead In Accident

Death due to a heart attack, was the verdict of a Jubilee Hospital doctor late Tuesday night when Frank B. O'Neill, 71, of 1179 Monterey Avenue, was found dead behind the wheel of his car, following an accident.

City police said the car crashed into a tree on the northwest corner of Cook Street and Dallas Road. They took the man to hospital, where life was found to be extinct.

Vancouver Steelworkers Get 13-Cent Boost

The Labor Relations' Board today reported that a collective agreement had been signed by Richards Engineering Co. Ltd., Vancouver, and the United Steelworkers of America.

Stuart Willisroft, conciliation officer, assisted the parties in arriving at a 13-cent across-the-board wage boost.

Change Grade Names Of B.C. Potatoes

B.C. housewives will buy potatoes in the future with different grade markings but they will still be getting the same grades of potatoes.

The provincial government, by order-in-council, has adopted the federal potato grading categories. They are similar to those which have been used by B.C. for years.

Under the new system potatoes will be sold as Canada fancy, Canada No. 1, Canada No. 1 Large and Canada No. 2.

MAGISTRATE APPOINTED

William George Harris, Powell River, has been appointed by order-in-council as stipendiary magistrate for Nanaimo county.

Driver Of Car Which Hit Boy Disappears

Driver of the car which knocked Beaver Fell, 15 years, 21 Boyd Street, from his bicycle at Broughton and Gordon Streets late Tuesday afternoon, did not remain at the scene, city police report. The boy was bruised and shaken up when he was taken home by Constables James Strong and Lyle Somers. Police were unable to find any witnesses to the accident.

Addition To Park

The provincial government has added 21.12 acres to Little Qualicum Falls Park, making the area traversed by the access road part of the park.

The parks department of the B.C. Forest Service plans to improve the road from the Alberni highway into the park. The park is the most popular provincial park on Vancouver Island.

Former Woman M.P. For Yukon, At 83, Helps Chest Drive

Mrs. George Black, wife of Yukon Territory's member of parliament and a former M.P. from that riding herself, took time out from her holidaying in Victoria Tuesday to help out at Community Chest campaign headquarters in Prince Robert House.

In her 83rd year, Mrs. Black maintains Community Chest work is something everyone should support. Her day spent at chest headquarters here proves she evidently practices what she preaches.

Mrs. Black and her husband went to the Yukon in 1898, and have lived there ever since.

Her husband was elected in 1921 to take the Yukon seat in the House of Commons, which he held until 1935, when he was forced to temporarily withdraw from politics because of ill health. During his illness, his place in the Commons was taken by Mrs. Black, who served as M.P. for five years until her husband was again well.

Victorians To Attend Planning Conference

A number of Vancouver Island delegates will attend the first regional conference of the British Columbia division, Community Planning Association of Canada, which will open Thursday morning in the Hotel Georgia, Vancouver, and continue through Friday.

The conference will be attended by municipal and university officials, members of engineering and agricultural institutes and town planning commissions.

Municipal Affairs Minister R. C. MacDonald will open the sessions.

Speakers include Howard S. Coulter, Vancouver; and Professor Charles McKinley, Reed College, Portland. Delegates from Victoria will include: M. Kirkpatrick-Crockett and Miss Marjorie Hill, representing the city; Forrest L. Shaw, F. W. Nicolls, A. G. Graham, Vancouver Island directors and J. T. Gawthrop, secretary-treasurer of the B.C. division.

Active Campaigning Of Community Chest To Finish Saturday

Officials of Greater Victoria's Community Chest have set their sights on Saturday of this week as the day to end active campaigning in their current drive to raise $180,000.

"We want all canvassers to complete their calls during the next few days, and have the money turned in to headquarters by Saturday," Mrs. A. H. Cox, chairman of the residential division, said today.

She said the residential canvass was 75 per cent complete and that every effort would be made to contact the remaining households before the Saturday deadline. Persons who are missed in the canvass can send their subscriptions direct to campaign headquarters.

Persons who have already given something, but who now feel they could give more, can also follow this course of action. Receipts will be sent by return mail.

"We would like to point out to those who have given only a dollar," Mrs. Cox said, "that there are 21 agencies relying on the chest for their continuance during all of 1949 and that a dollar divided by 21 means less than five cents for each of them."

Symphony Orchestra Has Fine Progress For Opener

The eighth season for the Victoria Symphony Orchestra will open Monday next at the Royal Theatre. Advance seat sales presage a capacity audience but those who have not got their tickets are reminded that whether they are buying for this concert only, or for the season, all seats one will be admitted during a performance and latecomers will be shown to their seats only during intervals.

A finely balanced program, appealing to a wide variety of preferences, has been selected and prepared by Hans Gruber, musical director of the orchestra. The two groups to be sung by guest artist Ernest Adams of Vancouver will be highlighted by the fact that the gifted and popular baritone is leaving for professional activity in eastern Canada. This will be his last appearance in Victoria, at least for some time.

The program follows:
I—Overture to Goethe's Drama "Egmont" — Brethoven
II—Aria—Prologue to "Il Pagliaccio" — Leoncavallo
III—Symphony No. 9 in D Minor (unfinished) — Schubert
IV—"Eine Kleine Nachtmusik" — Mozart (arranged in G Major for string orchestra)
V—Song—"Nocturne" — Curran (With Orchestra)
Aria—"Largo Al Factotum" from "The Barber of Seville" — Rossini
VI—Symphonic Poem—"Les Preliudes" — Liszt

As in the past, the Victoria Symphony Society will act as hosts to the blind on this occasion, tickets for whom are available at the box office in Spencer's radio department.

Police are on the look-out in London for an artist with a perverted sense of fun. Several cats which disappeared in recent weeks have returned home painted all over with a black dye or a hair tint.

Natives May Be Removed From South African Senate

PRETORIA (CP) — South Africa Nationalist government may be planning to remove native representatives from the South African Senate as well as the House of Assembly, cabinet members have indicated.

Even if they are allowed to remain in the Union Senate, they will not have a vote on confidence votes, Lands Minister J. G. Strydom told a party meeting.

Previously government spokesmen have only mentioned abolishing native representation in the House of Assembly.

Strydom's statement is considered to be an indication of how the government plans to overcome the deadlock at the next session of the Senate, where 22 government members face 22 opposition members.

Four native senators are lined up with the opposition, but if they are not allowed to vote on confidence issues, the government will have a working majority for any measure it wants.

If government bills are defeated in the Senate, the government can call for a joint sitting of both houses which would give that South Africa is likely to experience "the most terrible race convulsion in the near future if the present drift to totalitarianism continues."

Race Convulsion In S.A. Predicted

LONDON (Reuter) — Dr. Yusu Dadoo, president of the Transvaal Indian Congress, told a press conference here Tuesday

In Britain without a passport, which was refused him when he left South Africa, Dadoo said he is trying to obtain a French visa to go to Paris, where he is to act as adviser to the Indian delegation on the South African Indian question.

He said a speech here last Friday by Eric Louw, South African United Nations delegate, was intended to lull the British public into a false idea of the true character of Prime Minister D. F. Malan's government in South Africa.

"The hymn of hate by all members of the Malan administration, including Louw, against non-white peoples of South Africa in particular, as well as against Jews and English, is primarily responsible for what has been said about nationalists in the British and American press," he said.

Officer Wounded When Attacked

VANCOUVER (CP) — Constable James McGarry of the British Columbia Police, suffering from slashes on the wrists, was in a New Westminster hospital today and his alleged assailant was held under guard in another hospital here.

Constable Ralph gave this account of the stabbing incident: McGarry and Cave, members of the Maillardville B.C. Police detachment, were called to a Maillardville home to pick up a 29-year-old man committed to the Essondale Mental Home.

The man was on the lawn of his home when the police officers arrived.

He took out a jackknife and made for the officers saying, "you're not going to get me."

McGarry made a dive for the man, who slashed out, injuring the officer.

Cave went to McGarry's assistance and the man ran to a nearby car and drove away in a burst of speed.

Despite an alert sounded throughout the lower B.C. mainland, police were unable to capture their quarry.

However late Tuesday night a green coupe crashed in downtown Vancouver—14 miles from the slashing incident.

The driver was the man the police were looking for. He suffered concussion and was taken to hospital.

Police mounted guard over his hospital bed until he could be returned to the mental hospital. McGarry was on the operating table late Tuesday night. He was known to have lost considerable blood.

City Passes Blame To Saanich If...

City of Victoria has notified Saanich Council the northern municipality will be held responsible for damage or an epidemic which might arise from the sewage seepage onto city property in from Dupplin Road property.

Saanich group was advised of this at its meeting last night. It was pointed out that the engineer, H. D. Dawson, was proceeding with plans to submit a by-law to the Dupplin residents to have a small sewerage system installed for connection with the city's northwest main. City has agreed to the connection.

Proceed With Plans For Saanich Hall Extension

Saanich Council last night, by majority vote, endorsed a motion that the architect proceed with preparation for plans for the $20,000 extensions for the Royal Oak Municipal Hall.

Councillors L. Passmore and W. C. Kersey were opposed to the spending of the $20,000, in view of the voters' defeat of the $40,000 plan last year.

"Nevertheless we can't keep going the way things are," said Reeve E. C. Warren. "Why we're so cramped for space here we have people working right on top of each other," he added.

To Use $1,000 On Worst Saanich Road

It was agreed by members of Saanich council last night that any money left over in the road and bridges general fund this year will be earmarked for improvement of the road Engineer H. D. Dawson considers is in such shape as to need it most.

Reeve E. C. Warren said there was only $1,000 left in the fund. Councillor George Rudd started discussion in this direction. He asked that it be used to help fix up Blenkinsop Road as it was an interward artery, but supported the plan of the engineer using his discretion.

Seek Court Action To Quash Rezoning For Airpark Site

For the second time this year, the Gordon Head airpark question is scheduled for Supreme Court action.

J. G. McIntosh, barrister, has been instructed to take the anti-airpark fight of Ward 3 Saanich Ratepayers' Association and Mayfair Heights Ratepayers' Association, executive member of the two groups attending Saanich Council meeting Tuesday night reported. The ratepayers groups hold that the by-law to rezone the Gordon Head Saanich property for an airpark is illegal. They will endeavor, through the court, to have the rezoning quashed.

J. L. Hobbs, councillor for Ward 3, reported that formal notice of the court action intentions would be given Saanich council today or tomorrow.

Earlier in the year a ratepayer in the area sought an injunction in the court to stop work on the project. It was dismissed. "Airpark action on the part of the council was limited to an argument over adoption of minutes of a previous meeting involving airpark discussion when three pro-airpark council members walked out of the meeting."

Councillor Hobbs moved adoption of these Oct. 12 minutes in which the walkout was staged. However, it was defeated by a tie vote, Reeve E. C. Warren again putting his vote to meet the threat of a victory by the "nays."

Councillors supporting the airpark are L. Passmore, W. Kersey, T. Alexander and G. Rudd. Opposing are Hobbs, E. C. Cummins and K. R. Genn and Reeve E. C. Warren.

Ask Saanich To Pay Part Of Gunman's Hospital Bill

Saanich Council meeting last night referred to its solicitor for advice a request that the municipality pay a one-third share of $368 hospital bill for a wounded hold-up man on Oct. 27, 1947. He was Nick Clark, Vancouver, captured by Esquimalt police in a gunshot finish after three armed robberies in the city, Saanich and Esquimalt.

Clark received 10 years in the penitentiary for his crime, and the St. Joseph's Hospital, through Joseph McKenna, barrister, is asking for Saanich help for payment.

After being involved in the gun-slugging of William Clark in the McGill and Orme dispensary in the Scollard Building in a hold-up for narcotics, the Vancouver man held up Constable George Harvey of Esquimalt police and at gunpoint made the officer drive him about in the police wagon and then robbed the Gorge Pharmacy of a quantity of drugs.

In darkness the same day Clark was captured after being wounded by Esquimalt police bullets. From the gunshot wounds Clark suffered an infected right hand to necessitate a period in hospital prior being transported to the penitentiary.

Mistake Costs Saanich $2,763

An expensive mistake in Saanich this year cost the municipality $2,763. At the meeting of the council Tuesday night this sum was ordered taken from the roads and bridges general fund to meet the bill.

When machinery in the hands of employees of the municipality widening the Interurban Road ditches worked too close to B.C. Electric power poles, they became undermined and toppled over to disrupt power service for a large section of Saanich until emergency measures were taken by the company.

Fourteen new poles had to be erected and the wiring restrung. The company noted that it was not charging the municipality for loss of revenue by the power stoppage.

35 Clamoring For Job As Fireman

It may be that a lot of men want to be firemen or that jobs just aren't as plentiful as they were a year or so ago. However, Saanich council heard at its meeting last night from John B. Tribe, municipal clerk, that 35 applications have been received for a lone vacancy in the fire department. Applications will be reviewed by the water committee Friday night.

Asks For Ward System Abolition

Councillor Thomas Alexander, Ward 1, Tuesday night at Saanich Council meeting tendered a notice-of-motion calling for the abolition of the ward system in the municipality and that all members of the council be elected "at large," at the coming December elections. The motion will be voted on November 9.

Reaction of Councillor Leslie Passmore, Ward 7, was "I'm all for that!"

However, Mr. Passmore wanted only six councillors elected instead of seven as at present. "That will do away with this business of repeated dead-locked votes," noting that Reeve E. C. Warren's vote had killed issue after issue by deadlocking matters.

The reeve was heard to comment "a reeve has no alternative but to vote under the Municipal Act."

Reeve Warren noted that in any case such a reduction in members would require an amendment to the act. It could not be done this year, he said.

SAANICH REVISION COURT

Councillors W. C. Kersey, and T. Alexander and Reeve E. C. Warren were named as the Saanich Court of Revision on the voters' list for 1948. They will sit starting at 9 on the morning of November 15 at the Municipal Hall.

SAANICH GARBAGE ISSUE

At its meeting next Monday night, Saanich Council committee will discuss the matter of handling its own garbage collection or pay the extra charge per house asked for by the present private collector.

BARN, COW MUST GO

E. Broadley, 781 McKenzie Avenue, will be ordered by Saanich Council to remove the barn he has erected on his property, allegedly without first obtaining a permit, and to dispose of the cow he keeps there. Council made this order last night.

Professor To Talk On Town Planning

Prof. F. Lasserre, head of U.B.C.'s Department of Architecture, will give an address on "Town Planning" in the auditorium of Victoria College next Monday evening at 8.15.

The meeting will be open to the public. Prof. Lasserre will speak under the auspices of the University Extension Association of Victoria.

In his address, he will survey briefly the history of town plans, showing how they reflect the social needs of the times. Present-day social needs will be analyzed and the essential elements of a town will be discussed together with the preparation for town plan.

Prof. Lasserre, a native of Switzerland, came to Canada in 1921 and graduated from University of Toronto school for architecture. He then returned to Switzerland where he took additional studies. After returning to Canada, he taught at McGill University.

Want Flooding Of Flats Stopped

Saanich Ward 4 Ratepayers will be advised by the council no steps can be taken until the engineer has completed his survey and tendered a report on the question of removal of rock construction in Colquitz River to help eliminate the flooding of Panama Flats.

In the freezing winter days the flooded Panama fields attract many skating enthusiasts. Councillor E. P. Cummins told the council the work could not be financed by ward funds. He estimated the work entailed would cost about $21,000. He did not see how the project could be paid for unless people who benefit shouldered a portion of it. However, subject was dropped until engineer H. D. Dawson submits his report.

Resigns From Party Over Steel Issue

LONDON (AP)—Ivor Thomas, Labor member of Parliament, who has held two "little cabinet" posts in the Attlee government, announced Tuesday he would resign from the party as a protest against plans to nationalize steel.

"These contentious measures cannot fail to impair that national unity which is essential at home if we are to show our full strength abroad at this critical time," he said in a letter to Prime Minister Attlee.

A former Parliamentary secretary to the Ministry of Civil Aviation and Parliamentary Under-Secretary of State for the Colonies, Thomas will keep his Keighley, Yorkshire, seat in the Commons as an independent.

5,000 Blooms For Chrysanthemum Show

More than 400 entrants are expected to show approximately 5,000 blooms during the Kiwanis Chrysanthemum Show to be held at the Crystal Garden Nov. 4, 5 and 6, it was announced by officials Tuesday.

M. V. Chestnut, chairman of the show, told Kiwanians that arrangements for the three-day show are almost complete, and urged members to get behind the program.

The mum show is considered one of the best in western Canada.

DEATHS
JAMESON—There passed away on Oct. 23, 1948, Capt. J. J. Jameson, age 72 years. He leaves his wife, at 121 Superior Street; two sons, John and Walter of Victoria, and Kenneth at Halifax; two daughters, Mrs. McKenna of Victoria and Mrs. Duncan at Sooke, B.C.
A private funeral service took place in Vancouver on Oct. 26, 1948.

FUNERAL

VEARDY—Funeral service for Mr. John Veardy, who passed away at the Jubilee Hospital on Oct. 22, 1948, was held yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the chapel of the Thomson Funeral Home, Rev. C. W. McGillivray conducted the service in the presence of many friends. The late Mr. Veardy was a native of England, a retired grocer and had resided in Canada for 28 years. He was 65 years of age. The hymn, "Abide With Me," was sung at the service. The casket was covered with many beautiful floral tributes. The following were pallbearers: Walter Mord, R. W. Maher, C. G. Barrie and L. R. Gude. Interment took place at the Royal Oak Burial Park.

360 Students Graduated In Colorful Ceremony At U.B.C.

VANCOUVER—Another class received the official farewell of its Alma Mater this afternoon when the U.B.C. held its Autumn Congregation. An estimated 2,500, relatives and friends of the graduating class, saw degrees bestowed on 360 students. Chancellor Eric Hamber officiated. Eight honorary degrees were conferred on Ira Dilworth, Francis T. Fairay, Alexander Russell, John Bennett DeLong, Miss Jessie Fisher Gordon, Dr. Luther Evans, William Stewart Wallace and Dr. William Kaye Lamb.

Mr. Dilworth, director of the international service of the CBC, was formerly principal of the Victoria High School and then a member of staff of U.B.C.'s department of English. He is author of an anthology of Canadian poetry and a literary critic of note.

Miss Jessie Fisher Gordon founded the Crofton House School for girls in 1898, coming from Scotland in 1886. She retired from service in 1937 after 40 years as a leading educationalist.

F. T. Fairay was born in Liverpool, England, and came to Canada in 1907. He taught at Quesnel and later at the Boys' Central and South Park Schools in Victoria. He taught in the King Edward High School, Vancouver, 1914-21, with time out for overseas war service. In 1929 to 1938 he was vice-principal of the Vancouver Technical School and in 1938 was appointed provincial director of technical education. He directed the War Emergency Training Program in British Columbia in World War II, was appointed superintendent of education.

The majority report, made by Percy Gomery, chairman, and Wilfrid H. Heffernan, companies nominee, said the increase should be made retroactive to May 1. Further increases in eight categories plus full pay for four stated statutory holidays were also recommended.

A minority report Alexander Bevis, union nominee, suggested a 12-per-cent increase retroactive to May 1.

The suggested settlement had been offered by the company. The employees were represented by the International Brotherhood of Pulp, Sulphite and Paper Mill Workers, Local 433.

New Brunswick Gets Plaswood Plant

SAINT JOHN, N.B. (CP) — The first plaswood plant in Canada is expected to open at South Nelson, N.B., in about four or five months. H. I. Hymans of Detroit, J. Leonard O'Brien of South Nelson and Alfred H. Paradis of Montreal were the men behind the deal when the contract for construction of the plant was announced.

The plaswood process converts wood waste into sturdy construction and furniture material through use of special drying equipment and mixture of a unique synthetic resin.

Rights to the process for Canada will be acquired by a new company to be known as Plaswood Corporation of Canada Ltd.

Western Grid Final Will Open Nov. 6

REGINA (CP) — President Clare Warner of the Western Football Conference announced today the first game of the conference final will be played Nov. 6 either at Winnipeg or Regina and the second at Calgary Nov. 11.

Saturday's final league game between Winnipeg Blue Bombers and Saskatchewan Roughriders will decide which of the two teams will meet the undefeated Calgary Stampeders in the two-game total-point series.

$5,000 Heating Unit For Boulton Garage

The city building inspector on Tuesday issued a permit to Boulton (Victoria) Ltd., 1100 Yates Street, to install a heating plant in its garage.

Value of the installation is $5,000. The company recently expanded its premises, but does not plan installation of service station facilities.

Steels Lead Wavering Key Stocks

NEW YORK (AP) — A timid rally made only scant headway after a morning drop in the stock market Wednesday.

Key stocks, led by steels, dropped as much as two points or more before demand picked up. Extreme losses were shaded and here and there an issue slipped to the plus side.

Selling was touched off by the omission of a widely expected special dividend by U.S. Steel Corp.

U.S. Steel lost more than two points and National Steel about as much near the opening. Part of the loss was recouped. Republic Steel and Bethlehem did well.

Canadian issues were lower. McIntyre dropped 4. Canadian Pacific and Distillers Seagrains eased 1/2.

Dow Jones closing averages:
30 Industrials 189.26, off .48
20 rails 61.84, off .16
15 utilities 35.40, off .29
65 stocks 70.30, off .25
Total sales, 970,000.
